In a world of growing environmental risks and ecological scarcities ensuring a safe Anthropocene for humankind is essential. Managing an increasingly fragile planet requires new thinking on markets, institutions, and governance built on five principles: ending the underpricing of nature, fostering collective action, accepting absolute limits, attaining sustainability, and promoting inclusivity. Rethinking economics and policies in this way can help to overcome the global challenges posed by climate change, biodiversity loss, freshwater scarcity, and deteriorating marine and coastal habitats. It requires decoupling wealth creation from environmental degradation through business policy and financial actions aimed at better stewardship of the biosphere. In this book, renowned environmental economist Edward Barbier offers a blueprint for a greener and more inclusive economy and outlines the steps we must take now to build a post-COVID world that limits environmental threats while sustaining per capita welfare.
