Biomedical English Isabel Verdaguer, Natalia Judith Laso, Danica Salazar, 2013-06-15 The corpus based studies in this volume explore biomedical research writing in English from a variety of perspectives The articles in this collection delve into the lexicographic issues involved in building an electronic database of collocations and lexical bundles offer insight on the teaching and learning of prototypical multiword units of meaning in biomedical discourse and view written scientific English through the lens of such diverse fields as phraseology metaphor gender and discourse analysis The research presented in this book forms the theoretical and methodological foundation of SciE Lex a lexical database of collocations and prefabricated expressions designed to help scientists write scientific papers in English accurately The concluding chapter on FrameNet addresses frame semantics whose application to the cross linguistic study of scientific language will open new and promising avenues of research in the study of specialized languages

Lexical Bundles in Native and Non-native Scientific Writing Danica Salazar, 2014-11-15 This book presents an investigation of lexical bundles in native and non nativescientific writing in English whose aim is to produce a frequency derived statistically and qualitatively refined list of the most pedagogically useful lexical bundles in scientific prose one that can be sorted and filtered by frequency key word structure and function and includes contextual information such as variations authentic examples and usage notes The first part of the volume discusses the creation of this list based on a multimillion word corpus of biomedical research writing and reveals the structure and functions of lexical bundles and their role in effective scientific communication A comparative analysis of a non native corpus highlights non native scientists difficulties in employing lexical bundles The second part of the volume explores pedagogical applications and provides a series of teaching activities that illustrate how EAP teachers or materials designers can use the list of lexical bundles in their practice Corpora in
