Bridging Cultural Conflicts A New Approach For A Changing World:

Bridging Cultural Conflicts Michelle LeBaron, 2003-04-21 In our global society challenging conflicts abound in personal business government and international settings Many of these conflicts are complicated by layers of miscommunication cultural misunderstandings and completely different ways of looking at the world These conflicts cannot be solved by goodwill or sincere intentions alone In our multicultural world we need new tools to address gaps in communication and understanding and the conflicts that flow from them This book answers this need in groundbreaking ways that cut through complexity replacing confusion with clarity book jacket

Changing Our Worlds Michelle LeBaron, Janis Sarra, 2018-07-03 Changing Our Worlds draws on the wisdom of African artists theorists educators and leaders It profiles an array of transformative arts projects that among other things changed attitudes and behaviours toward HIV testing and prevention helped rural citizens to design and build a new community centre and supported those with HIV AIDS to strengthen their resilience As a group of scholar practitioners collaborating on the book reinforced our confidence in the potency of arts practices to unsettle unjust orders inspire new visions and embrace the human dignity that comes from acknowledging the interdependent world in which we live

Breaking Intergenerational Cycles of Repetition Donna Orange, 2016-01-18 The authors in this volume explore the interconnected issues of intergenerational trauma and traumatic memory in societies with a history of collective violence across the globe Each chapter's discussion offers a critical reflection on historical trauma and its repercussions and how memory can be used as a basis for dialogue and transformation The perspectives include among others the healing journey of three generations of a family of Holocaust survivors and their dialogue with third generation German students over time traumatic memories of the British concentration camps in South Africa reparations and reconciliation in the context of the historical trauma of Aboriginal Australians and the use of the arts as a strategy of dialogue and transformation

Conflict Resolution in Asia Stephanie P. Stobbe, 2020-07-06 Conflict Resolution in Asia Mediation and Other Cultural Models is an exploration of human interaction conflict and conflict resolution in the incredibly diverse region that consists of South East and Southeast Asia It examines how traditional indigenous and culturally based conflict resolution processes interact with more formal legal systems to build infrastructures that address conflicts at the interpersonal to international levels in ways that maintain social harmony This book provides insight into situations where unique cultures come together to create a larger cultural identity and how constructive and appropriate conflict resolution systems can work every day to establish positive relationships and overall peace in these complex communities It demonstrates the importance of culture in addressing conflict and conflict resolution and validates the significance of culturally appropriate processes in building and sustaining peace From Southeast Asia a survey of Indonesia Laos Philippines Thailand Singapore and Vietnam highlights their rich cultures and conflict resolution processes From East Asia Mainland China and Hong Kong show the history of traditional models and the incorporation of mediation within a more formal legal system Finally a section on South Asia examines customary methods of dispute resolution working alongside a judiciary structure in India These nine countries represent very different cultural groups with complex national histories and varying degrees of influence from Western powers Using select Asian nations as case studies of conflict resolution systems this edited book examines the power of mediation and other cultural conflict resolution models as a tool for addressing conflicts and social justice

Interfaith Grit Stephanie L. Varnon-Hughes, 2018-03-14 This book is meant for every family member colleague and airplane seatmate who has asked me a variation of the following question Why is the world like this What can I do Being human is a messy endeavor We are made to be in relationship built for community craving to be known and seen and heard better together And yet some flaw in us allows us to dwell on difference and allows diversity to become divisiveness We fear the unknown We resist the new We turn strident and hateful when made to change Why is this I believe that leaning into the unknown is a transformative skill We can practice becoming okay with difference We can become virtuosic at embracing the unknown When we learn that diversity will indeed transform us body soul and nation we can systematically name teach and celebrate the practices that help us persevere in shaky places

Research Handbook on Mediating International Crises Jonathan Wilkenfeld, Kyle Beardsley, David Quinn, 2019 Current conceptions of mediation can often fail to capture the complexity and intricacy of modern conflicts This Research Handbook addresses this problem by presenting the leading expert opinions on international mediation examining how international mediation practices mechanisms and institutions should adapt to the changing characteristics of contemporary international crises
