

Effect of the HIPAA Privacy Rule on Health Research

Since the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) Privacy Rule was implemented by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) in April 2003, health researchers have asserted that the Privacy Rule has had a negative effect on researchers' abilities to conduct meaningful research. The purpose of this chapter is to review the currently available evidence on the effect of the Privacy Rule on research, including surveys as well as other types of studies to measure impact. The chapter begins with an overview of several surveys that examined health researchers' personal experiences with and opinions about the Privacy Rule. Many issues identified by survey respondents were also the focus of other types of studies, so the remainder of the chapter consists of a topical review of the available evidence regarding the effect of the Privacy Rule, and its interpretation, on health research. The following issues are reviewed in detail: (1) selection bias, (2) research efficiency, (3) abandoned research, (4) deidentified information, (5) the authorization process, and (6) concerns about potential legal consequences.

OVERVIEW OF SURVEY RESULTS

As noted in previous chapters (Chapter 1 in particular), the information gained by opinion surveys has limitations. The potential for bias exists because of the way the questions are worded and framed, and respondents may have self-motivated reasons for responding in a particular fashion. For example, individuals responding to surveys conducted by professional societies may be more likely to have encountered difficulties with the Privacy

Beyond the HIPAA Privacy Rule Institute of Medicine, Board on Health Care Services, Board on Health Sciences Policy, Committee on Health Research and the Privacy of Health Information: The HIPAA Privacy Rule, 2009-03-24 In the realm of health care privacy protections are needed to preserve patients dignity and prevent possible harms Ten years ago to address these concerns as well as set guidelines for ethical health research Congress called for a set of federal standards now known as the HIPAA Privacy Rule In its 2009 report Beyond the HIPAA Privacy Rule Enhancing Privacy Improving Health Through Research the Institute of Medicine's Committee on Health Research and the Privacy of Health Information concludes that the HIPAA Privacy Rule does not protect privacy as well as it should and that it impedes important health research

Best Care at Lower Cost Institute of Medicine, Committee on the Learning Health Care System in America, 2013-06-10 America's health care system has become too complex and costly to continue business as usual Best Care at Lower Cost explains that inefficiencies an overwhelming amount of data and other economic and quality barriers hinder progress in improving health and threaten the nation's economic stability and global competitiveness According to this report the knowledge and tools exist to put the health system on the right course to achieve continuous improvement and better quality care at a lower cost The costs of the system's current inefficiency underscore the urgent need for a systemwide transformation About 30 percent of health spending in 2009 roughly 750 billion was wasted on unnecessary services excessive administrative costs fraud and other problems Moreover inefficiencies cause needless suffering By one estimate roughly 75 000 deaths might have been averted in 2005 if every state had delivered care at the quality level of the best performing state This report states that the way health care providers currently train practice and learn new information cannot keep pace with the flood of research discoveries and technological advances About 75 million Americans have more than one chronic condition requiring coordination among multiple specialists and therapies which can increase the potential for miscommunication misdiagnosis potentially conflicting interventions and dangerous drug interactions Best Care at Lower Cost emphasizes that a better use of data is a critical element of a continuously improving health system such as mobile technologies and electronic health records that offer significant potential to capture and share health data better In order for this to occur the National Coordinator for Health Information Technology IT developers and standard setting organizations should ensure that these systems are robust and interoperable Clinicians and care organizations should fully adopt these technologies and patients should be encouraged to use tools such as personal health information portals to actively engage in their care This book is a call to action that will guide health care providers administrators caregivers policy makers health professionals federal state and local government agencies private and public health organizations and educational institutions

Monitoring HIV Care in the United States Institute of Medicine, Board on Population Health and Public Health Practice, Committee to Review Data Systems for Monitoring HIV Care, 2012-08-13 The number of people living with

HIV AIDS PLWHA in the United States is growing each year largely due both to advances in treatment that allow HIV infected individuals to live longer and healthier lives and due to a steady number of new HIV infections each year The U S Centers for Disease Control and Prevention CDC estimates that there were 1 2 million people living with HIV infection in the United States at the end of 2008 the most recent year for which national prevalence data are available Each year approximately 16 000 individuals die from AIDS despite overall improvements in survival and 50 000 individuals become newly infected with HIV In 2011 the CDC estimated that about three in four people living with diagnosed HIV infection are linked to care within 3 to 4 months of diagnosis and that only half are retained in ongoing care In the context of the continuing challenges posed by HIV the White House Office of National AIDS Policy ONAP released a National HIV AIDS Strategy NHAS for the United States in July 2010 The primary goals of the NHAS are to reduce HIV incidence increase access to care and optimize health outcomes and reduce HIV related health disparities Monitoring HIV Care in the United States addresses existing gaps in the collection analysis and integration of data on the care and treatment experiences of PLWHA This report identifies critical data and indicators related to continuous HIV care and access to supportive services assesses the impact of the NHAS and the ACA on improvements in HIV care and identifies public and private data systems that capture the data needed to estimate these indicators In addition this report addresses a series of specific questions related to the collection analysis and dissemination of such data Monitoring HIV Care in the United States is the first of two reports to be prepared by this study In a forthcoming report also requested by ONAP the committee will address the broad question of how to obtain national estimates that characterize the health care of people living with HIV in the United States The second report will include discussion of challenges and best practices from previous large scale and nationally representative studies of PLWHA as well as other populations

Doing Research in Emergency and Acute Care Michael

P. Wilson, Kama Z. Guluma, Stephen R. Hayden, 2016-03-02 A practical guide to understanding and navigating the unique challenges faced by physicians and other professionals who wish to undertake research in the ED or other acute care setting Focusing on the hyper acute and acute care environment and fulfilling two closely related needs 1 the need for even seasoned researchers to understand the specific logistics and issues of doing research in the ED and 2 the need to educate clinically active physicians in research methodology This new text is not designed to be a complex encyclopedic resource but instead a concise easy to read resource designed to convey key need to know information within a comprehensive framework Aimed at the busy brain either as a sit down read or as a selectively read reference guide to fill in knowledge gaps chapters are short compartmentalized and are used strategically throughout the text in order to introduce and frame concepts This format makes it easy and even entertaining for the research novice to integrate and absorb completely new and typically dry material The textbook addresses aspects of feasibility efficiency ethics statistics safety logistics and collaboration in acute research Overall it grants access for the seasoned researcher seeking to learn about acute research to empathically integrate learning points into his or her knowledge base As the ED is the primary setting for hyper acute and acute care and therefore a prime site for related clinical trial recruitment and interventions the book presents specific logistical research challenges that researchers from any discipline including physicians research nurse coordinators study monitors or industry partners need to understand in order to succeed The Canadian Health Information Management Lifecycle
