Beyond The Neon Lights Everyday Shanghai In The Early Twentieth Century:

Beyond the Neon Lights Hanchao Lu, 1999 Today in the post Mao post Deng era China faces a vigorous resurgence of paradoxes similar to those that surfaced at the end of the imperial era At the same time the pragmatism of the Chinese people endures suggesting that the lessons of the past have broad implications for urban China and urban rural relations in China at the beginning of the third millennium BOOK JACKET Shanghai Gone Qin Shao, 2023-06-14 One of the best accounts of the reality of gentrification and urban development in China grounded with solid historical ethnographic and legal evidence Urban Studies In recent decades the centuries old city of Shanghai has been demolished and rebuilt into a gleaming megacity With its world famous skyscrapers it now ranks with New York and London as a hub of global finance But that transformation has come at a grave human cost In Shanghai Gone Qin Shao applies the concept of domicide the eradication of a home against the will of its dwellers to the sweeping destruction of neighborhoods families and life patterns that made way for the new Shanghai Shao gives voice to the holdouts and protesters who resisted domicide and demanded justice She follows among others a reticent kindergarten teacher turned diehard petitioner a descendant of gangsters and squatters who has become an amateur lawyer for evictees and a Chinese Muslim who has struggled to recover his ancestral home in Xintiandi an infamous site of gentrification dominated by a well connected Hong Kong real estate tycoon Highlighting the wrenching changes spawned by China's reform era Shao vividly portrays the corrupt and rapacious pursuit of growth and profit the personal wreckage it has left behind and the enduring human spirit it has unleashed Between Heaven and Modernity Peter J. Carroll, 2006 Combining social political and cultural history this book examines the contestation over space history and power in the late Qing and Republican era reconstruction of the ancient capital of Suzhou as a modern city Located fifty miles west of Shanghai Suzhou has been celebrated throughout Asia as a cynosure of Chinese urbanity and economic plenty for a thousand years With the city's 1895 opening as a treaty port businessmen and state officials began to draw on Western urban planning in order to bolster Chinese political and economic power against Japanese encroachment As a result both Suzhou as a whole and individual components of the cityscape developed new significance according to a calculus of commerce and nationalism Japanese monks and travelers Chinese officials local people and others competed to claim Suzhou's streets state institutions historic monuments and temples and thereby to define the course of Suzhou's and greater China's modernity Hopped Up Jeffrey M. Pilcher, 2024 A highly readable history of beer and the brewing industry around the world over the centuries Hopped Up narrates the oscillations between distinctive regional and national preferences and the capitalist global standardization of beer style and taste in a work that will appeal to historians and beer connoisseurs alike 1913 Charles Emmerson, 2013-05-28 Liberating the world of 1913 from a prelude to war narrative and exploring it as it was this fascinating volume filled with stories insights and colorful characters brings to life a world more integrated and internationalized than we remember Strands of Modernization David B.

Sicilia, David G. Wittner, 2021-11-08 Expanding the historical understanding of the myriad ways in which the transfer of technology and business methods unfolded within East Asia Strands of Modernization examines the translation of technologies among competing developing economies

How to Make a Mao Suit Antonia Finnane, 2023-08-03 When the People's Republic of China was founded in 1949 new clothing protocols for state employees resulted in far reaching changes in what people wore In a pioneering history of dress in the Mao years 1949-1976 Antonia Finnane traces the transformation using industry archives and personal stories to reveal a clothing regime pivoted on the so called Mao suit The time of the Mao suit was the time of sewing schools and sewing machines pattern books and homemade clothes It was also a time of close economic planning when rationing meant a limited range of clothes made usually by women from limited amounts of cloth In an area of scholarship dominated by attention to consumption Finnane presents a revisionist account focused instead on production How to Make a Mao Suit provides a richly illustrated account of clothing that links the material culture of the Mao years to broader cultural and technological changes of the twentieth century

Urbanizing China in War and Peace Toby Lincoln, 2015-05-31

Urbanizing China in War and Peace rewrites the history of rural urban relations in the first half of the twentieth century by arguing that urbanization is a total societal transformation and as important a factor as revolution nationalism or modernity in the history of modern China Linking the global and the local in space and time China's urbanization was not only driven by industrial capitalism and the expansion of the state but also shaped how these forces influenced daily life in the city and the countryside Although the conflict that beset China after the Japanese invasion in 1937 affected the development of cities towns and villages it did not derail previous changes To truly understand how China has emerged as the world's largest urban society we must consider such continuities across the first half of the twentieth century during periods of war as well as peace The book focuses on Wuxi a city that lies a hundred miles to the west of Shanghai In the early twentieth century local industrialists were responsible for it quickly becoming the largest industrial city in China outside treaty ports They built factories roads and other infrastructure outside the old city walls and in surrounding towns and villages Chapters examine the county's transformation as recorded in guidebooks and travel magazines of the time and the role of the state in the early 1920s and into the Nanjing Decade when new administrative laws led to the continued expansion of the city under both municipal and county officials They explore the revival of the silk industry during the Japanese occupation and the industry's role in driving urbanization as well as efforts by Chinese leaders to carry out prewar development plans despite lockdowns and qingxiang clean the countryside campaigns In the midst of the barbed wire and watch towers plans to shape the built environment in Wuxi County and the region as a whole persisted and were carried out Ambitious and well researched Urbanizing China in War and Peace will appeal to scholars and students of Chinese urban history the Anti Japanese War of Resistance and the Republican period Its engagement with issues of urbanization in general will interest urban historians of other times and places
