Brian Eno His Music And The Vertical Color Of Sound

John T. Lysaker

Brian Eno His Music And The Vertical Color Of Sound:

Brian Eno Eric Enno Tamm,1995-08-22 Musician composer producer Brian Eno is unique in contemporary music Best known in recent years for producing U2's sensational albums Eno began his career as a synthesizer player for Roxy Music He has since released many solo albums both rock and ambient written music for film and television soundtracks and collaborated with David Bowie David Byrne Robert Fripp and classical and experimental composers His pioneering ambient sound has been enormously influential and without him today's rock would have a decidedly different sound Drawing on Eno's own words to examine his influences and ideas this book featuring a new afterword and an updated discography and bibliography will long remain provocative and definitive Brian Eno's Ambient 1: Music for Airports John T. Lysaker,2019 Brian Eno's seminal album Ambient 1 Music for Airports continues to fascinate and charm audiences not only as a masterpiece of ambient music but as a powerful and transformative work of art Author John T Lysaker situates this album in the context of twentieth century art music where its ambitions and contributions to avant garde music practice become even more apparent To appreciate the album's multifaceted character Lysaker advocates for prismatic listening an attentiveness that continually shifts registers in the knowledge that no single approach can grasp the work as a whole Exploring each of the album's four tracks and their unique sonic arrangements Brian Eno's Ambient 1 Music for Airports argues that the album must be approached from at least three angles as an ambient contribution to lived environments that draws upon cybernetics and the experiments of Erik Satie as an exploration of what John Cage has termed the activity of sounds and as a work of conceptual art that asks us to think freshly about artistic creativity listening and the broad ecology of interactions that not only make art possible but the full range of human meaning If one listens in this way Music for Airports becomes a sonic image that blurs the nature culture distinction and rescues the most interesting concerns of avant garde music from the social isolation of concert halls and performance spaces Brian Eno's Another Green World Geeta Dayal,2009-11-01 The serene delicate songs on Another Green World sound practically meditative but the album itself was an experiment fueled by adrenaline panic and pure faith It was the first Brian Eno album to be composed almost completely in the confines of a recording studio over a scant few months in the summer of 1975 The album was a proof of concept for Eno's budding ideas of the studio as musical instrument and a signpost for a bold new way of thinking about music In this book Geeta Dayal unravels Another Green World's abundant mysteries venturing into its dense thickets of sound How was an album this cohesive and refined formed in such a seemingly ad hoc way How were electronics and layers of synthetic treatments used to create an album so redolent of the natural world How did a deck of cards figure into all of this Here through interviews and archival research she unearths the strange story of how Another Green World formed the link to Eno's future foreshadowing his metamorphosis from unlikely glam rocker to sonic painter and producer Are We Not New Wave? Theo Cateforis,2011-06-07 In Are We Not New Wave Theo Cateforis provides the first musical and cultural history of the new wave movement charting its rise out of mid 1970s punk to its ubiquitous early 1980s MTV presence and downfall in the mid 1980s The book also explores the meanings behind the music's distinctive traits its characteristic whiteness and nervousness its playful irony electronic melodies and crossover experimentations Cateforis traces new wave's modern sensibilities back to the space age consumer culture of the late 1950s early 1960s Theo Cateforis is Assistant Professor of Music History and Culture in the Department of Art and Music Histories at Syracuse University

Living Electronic Music Simon Emmerson, 2017-09-29 Drawing on recent ideas that explore new environments and the changing situations of composition and performance Simon Emmerson provides a significant contribution to the study of contemporary music bridging history aesthetics and the ideas behind evolving performance practices Whether created in a studio or performed on stage how does electronic music reflect what is live and living What is it to perform live in the age of the laptop Many performer composers draw upon a library of materials some created beforehand in a studio some coded on the fly others plundered from the widest possible range of sources But others refuse to abandon traditionally created and structured electroacoustic work Lying behind this maelstrom of activity is the perennial relationship to theory that is ideas principles and practices that somehow lie behind composers and performers actions Some composers claim they just respond to sound and compose with their ears while others use models and analogies of previously non musical processes It is evident that in such new musical practices the human body has a new relationship to the sound There is a historical dimension to this for since the earliest electroacoustic experiments in 1948 the body has been celebrated or sublimated in a strange dance of forces in which it has never quite gone away but rarely been overtly present The relationship of the body performing to the spaces around has also undergone a revolution as the source of sound production has shifted to the loudspeaker Emmerson considers these issues in the framework of our increasingly acousmatic world in which we cannot see the source of the sounds we hear

Beyond Exoticism Timothy D. Taylor, 2007-03-05 Study of how systems of power and domination have shaped representations of otherness in music

The Poetics of Rock Albin Zak, 2001-11-20 This title provides a fascinating exploration of recording consciousness and compositional process from the perspective of those who make records

The Cambridge Companion to Recorded Music Nicholas Cook, 2009-11-26 Featuring fascinating accounts from practitioners this Companion examines how developments in recording have transformed musical culture

Music at the Borders Philip Hayward, 1998 Not Drowning Waving formed in Melbourne in 1983 Over the next decade they became one of Australia's most original rock bands recording a series of inventive albums and attracting critical acclaim Music At The Borders provides a detailed history of one remarkable facet of their career their long term engagement with the music and musicians of Papua New Guinea Individual chapters analyse the Melbourne music culture from which the band emerged the musical style they developed their work with musicians associated with PNG's Pacific Gold Studios and the band's re union for the 1996 Sing Sing tour

Understanding Records Jay Hodgson, 2010-08-19 Recording Practice is musical practice a technical but artistic affair

Understanding Records explains the musical language of Recording Practice in a way that any interested reader can understand Drawing on readily available hit records produced since 1945 each section of this book explains a handful of core production and engineering techniques in chronological record making sequence elucidating how those techniques work what they sound like how they function musically where listeners can hear those techniques at work in the broader Top 40 soundscape and where they fit in the broader record making process at large
