Rationality for Mortals Gerd Gigerenzer, 2008-05-02 Gerd Gigerenzer's influential work examines the rationality of individuals not from the perspective of logic or probability but from the point of view of adaptation to the real world of human behavior and interaction with the environment Seen from this perspective human behavior is more rational than it might otherwise appear This work is extremely influential and has spawned an entire research program This volume which follows on a previous collection Adaptive Thinking also published by OUP collects his most recent articles looking at how people use fast and frugal heuristics to calculate probability and risk and make decisions It includes a newly written substantial introduction and the articles have been revised and updated where appropriate This volume should appeal like the earlier volumes to a broad mixture of cognitive psychologists philosophers economists and others who study decision making

This volume should appeal like the earlier volumes to a broad mixture of cognitive psychologists, philosophers, economists, and others who study decision making.

Maestro. Jean Baudrillard. The Last Prophet of Europe Dr. Oleg Maltsev, Jean Baudrillard is characterized as the Last Prophet of Europe not just because he was a prominent thinker, French philosopher, and author of more than 50 works and essays that examine modern consumer society in depth. Events and phenomena described by Baudrillard in his works 20-30 years ago are taking place today. By means of his writings, he described his view of the world and explained why people and society are the way they are. He encrypted in his works a system that allows for making accurate prognosis. There was no book until this that could have demonstrated the integral system of Baudrillard's philosophy. Baudrillard did not share it with anybody and did not describe it explicitly as a whole. Figuratively speaking, he deconstructed his system into bricks, his writings then built a building out of them, numbered each brick, and dismantled the building and burned the schemes. In the book Baudrillard Maestro The Last Prophet of Europe, Oleg Maltsev thoroughly analyzes each brick and constructs Baudrillard's system, presenting to readers for the first time a complete model, the tools used by Baudrillard, and his philosophy. Throughout the 16 chapters of this book, the author looks into all kinds of subjects raised by Baudrillard with practical examples, among which the masses, the kingdom of the blind, the silent majority, perfect crime, European mysticism, the symbolic system, and many other phenomena are examined from the viewpoint of the scholar. The author also shares his research results based on the philosophy and sociology of Baudrillard. Dr. Maltsev then examines Jean Baudrillard's works, some of which had been translated into Russian for the first time, his photographic pieces, and interviews people who personally knew Baudrillard, his critics, and fellow researchers. This work is a practical book for modern people who want to have an objective view of the current state of affairs and take responsibility for their present and future. It provides an idea for the use of the philosophy, sociology, and radical anthropology of Baudrillard as the foundation of personal achievement, efficiency, and safety in such unstable and uncertain conditions of a constantly changing environment.

Strategic Instincts Dominic D. P. Johnson, 2022-08-30 A very timely book. Anne Marie Slaughter, CEO of New America, How cognitive biases can guide good decision making in politics and international relations. A widespread assumption in political science and international relations is that cognitive biases, quirks of the brain we all share as human beings, are detrimental and responsible for policy failures, disasters, and wars. In Strategic Instincts, Dominic Johnson challenges this assumption, explaining that these nonrational behaviors can actually support favorable results in international politics and contribute to political and strategic success. By studying past examples, he considers the ways that cognitive biases act as strategic instincts, lending a competitive edge in policy decisions, especially under conditions of unpredictability and imperfect information. Drawing from evolutionary theory and behavioral sciences, Johnson looks at three influential cognitive biases: overconfidence, the fundamental attribution error, and in-group/out-group bias He then examines the advantageous as well as the detrimental effects of these biases through historical case studies of the American Revolution the Munich Crisis and the Pacific campaign in World War II He acknowledges the dark side of biases when confidence becomes hubris when attribution errors become paranoia and when group bias becomes prejudice Ultimately Johnson makes a case for a more nuanced understanding of the causes and consequences of cognitive biases and argues that in the complex world of international relations strategic instincts can in the right context guide better performance Strategic Instincts shows how an evolutionary perspective can offer the crucial next step in bringing psychological insights to bear on foundational questions in international politics

Missing the Revolution Jerome H. Barkow, 2006 The naturalizing perspective of Darwinian thought has become one of the major intellectual currents of our time pervading contemporary understandings of human nature and society Unfortunately many social scientists in sociology psychology and sociocultural anthropology have failed to engage with it Barkow asks his fellow social scientists to put aside their all too common preconceptions and stereotypes of the biological and to consider a powerful argument that is far different from that of those who once invoked a vocabulary of genes and Darwin as a justification for genocide He argues that the theoretical perspective that has been so successful when applied to the behavior of every other animal species can be applied just as successfully to our own and that the real debate is about how to apply it
