Assimilation of Buddhism : Conversion, Contestation, and Memory Matthew T. Kapstein Associate Professor in the Department of South Asian Languages and Civilizations University of Chicago Divinity School, 2000-08-28 This book explores the Buddhist role in the formation of Tibetan religious thought and identity In three major sections the author examines Tibet's eighth century conversion sources of dispute within the Tibetan Buddhist tradition and the continuing revelation of the teaching in both doctrine and myth Elaborations on Emptiness - Uses of the Heart Sutra Donald S. Lopez (Jr.), 1996 Lopez reveals unexpected points of instability and contradiction in the Heart Sutra which in the end turns out to be the most malleable of texts where the logic of commentary serves as a tool of both tradition and transgression The Tibetan Assimilation of Buddhism Matthew T. Voice of the Buddha Maria Heim, 2018-09-12 What would a Buddhist theory of texts look like through the lens of the 5th century thinker Buddhaghosa In Voice of the Buddha Maria Heim reads from the principal commentator editor and translator of the Theravada intellectual tradition yielding fresh insight into all three collections of the early Pali texts Vinaya the Suttas and the Abhidhamma Buddhaghosa considered the Buddha to be omniscient the Buddha's words to be oceanic Every word passage book indeed the corpus as a whole is taken to be endless and immeasurable in Buddhaghosa's view Commentarial practice thus requires disciplined methods of expansion drawing out the endless possibilities for meaning and application Heim considers Buddhaghosa's theories of texts and follows his practices of exegesis to discover how he explored scripture's infinity By examining the significance of the immeasurability of scripture in commentarial practice and as a general principle this book offers new tools to understand the huge scriptural and commentarial literature of the Pali tradition And by taking seriously a traditional commentator's theory of texts it beckons us to learn from commentaries themselves how we might read and interpret them and the texts on which they comment Dialogue in Early South

Asian Religions Brian Black, Laurie Patton, 2016-03-09 Dialogue between characters is an important feature of South Asian religious literature entire narratives are often presented as a dialogue between two or more individuals or the narrative or discourse is presented as a series of embedded conversations from different times and places Including some of the most established scholars of South Asian religious texts this book examines the use of dialogue in early South Asian texts with an interdisciplinary approach that crosses traditional boundaries between religious traditions The contributors shed new light on the cultural ideas and practices within religious traditions as well as presenting an understanding of a range of dynamics from hostile and competitive to engaged and collaborative This book is the first to explore the literary dimensions of dialogue in South Asian religious sources helping to reframe the study of other literary traditions around the world
