James MacDonald,2013-08-20 The prodigal The wanderer The skeptic The rebel Each of us knows someone who has walked away from God and it is heartbreaking and bewildering We wonder how to reach out to them and bring them back but often it seems impossible Maybe you yourself are the one who has walked away and sees little reason to return to faith and the church This book's invitation is this Come home It invites the departed to return and offers the promise of the gospel that all wrongs and sins can be forgiven through Jesus There is no expiration on the promise of forgiveness and the open arms of Christ so no matter how long the wanderer has wandered he or she is still welcome All hurts can be healed all brokenness mended Just come home Whether you are a family member or friend of the prodigal or whether you are that person this book offers hope and an open invitation to return the safety of forgiveness and restoration in Jesus

Mohr,2012-12-06 Mapping Christian Rhetorics Michael-John DePalma,Jeffrey M. Ringer,2014-10-10 The continued importance of Christian rhetorics in political social pedagogical and civic affairs suggests that such rhetorics not only belong on the map of rhetorical studies but are indeed essential to the geography of rhetorical studies in the twenty first century This collection argues that concerning ourselves with religious rhetorics in general and Christian rhetorics in particular tells us something about rhetoric itself its boundaries its characteristics its functionings In assembling original research on the intersections of rhetoric and Christianity from prominent and emerging scholars Mapping Christian Rhetorics seeks to locate religion more centrally within the geography of rhetorical studies in the twenty first century It does so by acknowledging work on Christian rhetorics that has been overlooked or ignored connecting domains of knowledge and research areas pertaining to Christian rhetorics that may remain disconnected or under connected and charting new avenues of inquiry about Christian rhetorics that might invigorate theory building teaching research and civic engagement In dividing the terrain of Christian rhetorics into four categories theory education methodology and civic engagement Mapping Christian Rhetorics aims to foster connections among these areas of inquiry and spur future future collaboration between scholars of religious rhetoric in a range of research areas Countering Mission Drift in a Faith-based Organization Peirong Lin,2019-09-27 This book presents the case study of World Vision as a useful contribution in the discussion of mission drift a common phenomenon facing faith based organizations Mission drift has been categorised as a drifting away from the organization s founding mission purpose and identity Practical theological interpretation is undertaken in this case study There are four phases involved in this approach design collection analysis and recommendation In the first phase design the key terms of the dissertation are explicated One key model used is the identity formation model of organizations In the second phase collection the actual collection of the empirical research is documented Empirical research was done in two separate locations where World Vision worked in Papua New Guinea and Nepal In the third phase analyzing the findings of the empirical research are analysed firstly using the identity formation model and more normatively through the use of the normative practice model In the final phase recommendations are made in light of the analysis These recommendations are also framed using the identity formation model with content and process recommendations given Funding Educational Projects in the Developing Nations Michael Anthony Wood,1987 Fire
