Arnhem 1944 Operation Market Garden Campaign:

Arnhem William F. Buckingham, 2019-03-15 Explore this gripping day by day combat narrative of the infamous battle for a bridgehead over the Rhine Arnhem 1944 Stephen Badsey, 2004 Market Garden was one of the most audacious and ultimately controversial operations of the Second World War a joint penetration by an armored column and a large scale airborne drop The objective was to secure key waterways and railheads and punch a decisive hole in the German defenses If it had succeeded the war could have been ended in 1944 Stephen Badsey closely examines the combatants analyzing their strengths and weaknesses and explaining the different phases of the battle Yet the two pronged attack failed as a confusing and daily changing pattern of events unfurled Instead of being relieved after 48 hours as expected British paratroopers were cut off for nine days as the 2nd Army's spearhead XXX Corps were slowed by constant German shelling Facing two unexpected SS Panzer divisions the Allied paratroops were eventually evacuated across the Rhine after putting up an incredible fight Of the 10 000 men involved fewer than 2 000 survived Badsey provides an authoritative and absorbing account of why this happened He closely examines the combatants analyzing their strengths and weaknesses and explaining the different phases of the battle It Never Snows in September Robert J. Kershaw, 1990 Duitse visie op de slag om Arnhem in september 1944 Market Garden Then and Now Boxed Set Karel Margry, 2002-08-30 Both volumes of Operation Market Garden Then and Now in a presentation slip case Arnhem, 1976 Fighting the People's War Jonathan Fennell, 2019-01-24 Fighting the People's War is an unprecedented panoramic history of the citizen armies of the United Kingdom Australia Canada India New Zealand and South Africa the core of the British and Commonwealth armies in the Second World War Drawing on new sources to reveal the true wartime experience of the ordinary rank and file Jonathan Fennell fundamentally challenges our understanding of the War and of the relationship between conflict and socio political change He uncovers how fractures on the home front had profound implications for the performance of the British and Commonwealth armies and he traces how soldiers political beliefs many of which emerged as a consequence of their combat experience proved instrumental to the socio political changes of the postwar era Fighting the People's War transforms our understanding of how the great battles were won and lost as well as how the postwar societies were forged Arnhem 1944 - A Bridge Too Far? Bob Carruthers, 2012-02 It looks very rough If I get through this one I will be very lucky Brigadier General Gavin U S 82nd Airborne Division This book reviews the complex set of military operations played out in the Netherlands during September 1944 involving the forces of Britain Canada Poland the USA and Germany providing a wide selection of sources covering each of the belligerents The book features the previously unpublished war diary of Captain Graham Davies bringing a new perspective on the often overlooked contribution made by the artillerymen in support of both Operation Market and Operation Garden The German viewpoint is covered by the contemporary newspaper account translated from the pages of The Westkurier The report was filed by war reporter Erwin Kirchhof and provides a powerful insight into the events of the battle as filtered through the prism of Goebbels propaganda machine Two extracts from the official accounts of the 101st Airborne and 82nd Airborne Divisions give an indication of the strong conviction still held in the US camp that the operation had been a complete success

Proposed Airborne Assaults in the Liberation of Europe

James Daly, 2024-10-30 The bitter fighting in the so called Falaise Argentan Pocket in August 1944 during which the Allies encircled and destroyed a substantial part of Hitler's forces in northern France following the D Day landings marked the last major battle of the Normandy campaign Despite this tens of thousands of German soldiers managed to escape through the infamous Falaise Gap It was as the Allies continued to pursue the retreating enemy forces that the planners considered or drew up a number of further airborne operations As James Daly reveals three operations namely Lucky Strike Transfigure and Axehead might well have been part of the last of the fighting in the breakout from Normandy itself The first of these Lucky Strike was intended to see General Montgomery's 21st Army Group strike to the north east in the direction of the River Seine where bridges near Rouen were to be taken by the British 1st Airborne Division Transfigure was to be a major operation with the aim of using the First Allied Airborne Army against the French road network with the object of cutting the German lines of retreat across the Seine Axehead meanwhile was a plan to establish an air head on the eastern bank of the Seine In this assault the British 1st Airborne Division along with infantry Sherman DD amphibious tanks and specialised engineers would establish crossings of the Dives Touques Risle and Seine rivers As the Allies advanced further east into the Low Countries further Allied airborne assaults were suggested In Operation Linnet for example airborne forces were to capture and hold Tournai on the Escaut river in the western part of German occupied Belgium In the event they were all cancelled usually as the Allied forces reached the intended dropping zones before the airborne forces could take off In particular several of these operations bear very strong resemblance to elements of the Market Garden plan and show early signs of the mistakes Operation Comet for example included a glider coup de main for the bridges at Arnhem Nijmegen and Grave why did this disappear for Market Garden These operations and their planning show that far from being an operation that went wrong in September 1944 the flaws in the Arnhem plan were evident much earlier They also show that divisions between the Allies emerged much earlier and ran much deeper than originally thought

A Magnificent Disaster

David Bennett, 2008-07-08 Reveals much of what history has tended to gloss over should be a must read for all who have an interest in this operation Airborne Quarterly After Normandy the most spectacular Allied offensive of World War II was Operation Market Garden which planned to join three divisions of paratroopers dropped behind German lines with massive armored columns breaking through the front The object was to seize a crossing over the Rhine to outflank the heartland of the Third Reich and force a quick end to the war The operation utterly failed of course as the 1st British Airborne was practically wiped out the American 82nd and 101st Airborne Divisions became tied down in vicious combat for months and the vaunted armored columns were foiled at every turn by improvisational German defenses Some have called the battle Hitler's last victory In this work many years in the making David Bennett puts forward a balanced and comprehensive account of the British American Polish Canadian and German actions as well as the strategic background of the operation in a way not yet done He shows for example that rather than a bridgehead over the Rhine Montgomery s ultimate aim was to flank the Ruhr industrial area from the north The book also deals as never before with the key role of all three Corps of British Second Army not just Brian Horrocks central XXX Corps For the first time we learn the dramatic untold story of how a single company of Canadian engineers achieved the evacuation of 1st Airborne s survivors back across the Rhine when all other efforts had failed Also revealed is the scandal of how Polish Gen Sosabowski was treated by the British military authorities and how the operation would have failed at the outset but for the brilliant soldiery of the two American airborne divisions Respectfully nodding to A Bridge Too Far and other excellent works on Market Garden the author has interviewed survivors walked the ground and performed prodigious archival research to increase our understanding of the battle from the actions of the lowliest soldier to the highest commander Allied and German ,
