Barra And The Bishops Isles Living On The Margin:

Barra and the Bishop's Isles Keith Branigan, Patrick Foster, 2002 This book traces the development of human settlement in the beautiful but marginal landscapes of these islands situated on the very western fringe of Europe Cladh Hallan - Roundhouses and the dead in the Hebridean Bronze Age and Iron Age Mike Parker Pearson, Jacqui Mulville, Helen Smith, Peter Marshall, 2021-10-31 This first of two volumes presents the archaeological evidence of a long sequence of settlement and funerary activity from the Beaker period Early Bronze Age c 2000 BC to the Early Iron Age c 500 BC at the unusually long occupied site of Cladh Hallan on South Uist in the Western Isles of Scotland Particular highlights of its sequence are a cremation burial ground and pyre site of the 18th 16th centuries BC and a row of three Late Bronze Age sunken floored roundhouses constructed in the 10th century BC Beneath these roundhouses four inhumation graves contained skeletons two of which were remains of composite collections of body parts with evidence for post mortem soft tissue preservation prior to burial They have proved to be the first evidence for mummification in Bronze Age Britain Cladh Hallan s remarkable stratigraphic sequence preserved in the machair sand of South Uist includes a unique 500 year sequence of roundhouse life in Late Bronze Age and Iron Age Britain One of the most important results of the excavation has come from intensive environmental and micro debris sampling of house floors and outdoor areas to recover patterns of discard and to interpret the spatial use of 15 domestic interiors from the Late Bronze Age to the Early Iron Age From Cladh Hallan s roundhouse floors we gain intimate insights into how daily life was organized within the house where people cooked ate worked and slept Such evidence rarely survives from prehistoric houses in Britain or Europe and the results make a profound contribution to long running debates about the sunwise organisation of roundhouse activities Activity at Cladh Hallan ended with the construction and abandonment of two unusual double roundhouses in the Early Iron Age One appears to have been a smokery and steam room and the other was used for metalworking Excavations at Cill Donnain Mike Parker Pearson, Marek Zvelebil, 2014-06-30 The SEARCH Sheffield Environmental and Archaeological Research Campaign in the Hebrides project began in 1987 and covers the Scotland s Outer Hebrides The aim of the project is to investigate how human societies adapted in the long term to the isolated environment of the Outer Hebrides The first major excavation on South Uist discovered that what was thought to be a shell midden at Cill Donnain was in fact a wheelhouse a type of dwelling used in the period c 300 BC AD 500 under which lay the remains of a Bronze Age settlement This settlement was partly investigated by Marek Zvelebil in 1991 and then later by Mike Parker Pearson and Kate MacDonald in 2003 The site itself is situated at the foot of a high steep sided dune on the eastern edge of a large sand valley close to the western shore of Loch Cill Donnain The archaeological report of the excavation at the Cill Donnain wheelhouse shows that in comparison with contemporary neighbouring settlements it was unlikely that each was an independent unit and that they were linked by social and economic inter dependency The wheelhouse thus provides striking new evidence that contributes to developing theories about the social material and economic life in the period This volume presents the extensive archaeological evidence found at the site including pottery faunal remains and a variety of bone and metal tools illustrating that the Cill Donnain landscape is rich in archaeological sites of all periods from the Beaker to the post Medieval

The Outer Hebrides Mary MacLeod Rivett, 2021-09-01 A well researched guide covering all facets of island life perfect for anyone looking to diversify their knowledge of Scottish history Scottish Field The Outer Hebrides lie forty miles to the west of mainland Scotland forming a barrier to the North Atlantic Culturally distinct from early prehistory the islands contain a wealth of historical and archaeological monuments including the standing stones at Callanish the magnificent St Clement s church at Rodel as well as numerous brochs castles Pitish houses croft houses and industrial and military buildings In addition to descriptions of key historic sites from prehistory onwards and gazetteers covering every place of historical interest this book also traces the development of the modern environment and landscape of the islands enabling the visitor to appreciate the sites within their historical and cultural context In short this is an excellent and informative book one which I suspect many people will carry in the glove compartment of their car while driving north or south through these islands Stornoway Gazette

Land and People Michael J. Allen, Niall Sharples, Terry O'Connor, 2009-09-10 This volume is derived in concept from a conference held in honour of John Evans by the School of History and Archaeology and The Prehistoric Society at Cardiff University in March 2006 It brings together papers that address themes and landscapes on a variety of levels They cover geographical methodological and thematic areas that were of interest to and had been studied by John Evans The volume is divided into five sections which echo themes of importance in British prehistory They include papers on aspects of environmental archaeology experiments and philosophy new research on the nature of woodland on the chalklands of southern England coasts and islands people process and social order and snails and shells a strong part of John Evans career This volume presents a range of papers examining people s interaction with the landscape in all its forms The papers provide a diverse but cohesive picture of how archaeological landscapes are viewed within current research frameworks and approaches while also paying tribute to the innovative and inspirational work of one of the leading protagonists of environmental archaeology and the holistic approach to landscape interpretation

The Vatersay Raiders Ben Buxton, 2012-09-12 All they wanted was land land for crofting and land on which to build a house In 1908 ten desperate men from the islands of Barra and Mingulay in the Western Isles were imprisoned in Edinburgh for refusing to leave the island of Vatersay where they had built huts and planted potatoes without permission The case caused an outcry throughout Scotland and led eventually to the purchase of the island by the government for crofting This book the first about Vatersay tells the remarkable story of the raiders and their struggle to escape from the poverty which the policies of an absentee landowner forced them to endure The Vatersay Raiders documents not only these events which had enormous significance in the history of crofting but also the fascinating earlier history of Vatersay and its now deserted neighbour Sandray An outline of more recent developments brings the account up to date Historical Archaeologies of Transhumance across Europe Eugene Costello, Eva Svensson, 2018-03-05

Transhumance is a form of pastoralism that has been practised around the world since animals were first domesticated. Such seasonal movements have formed an important aspect of many European farming systems for several thousand years, although they have declined markedly since the nineteenth century. Ethnographers and geographers have long been involved in recording transhumant practices and in the last two decades archaeologists have started to add a new material dimension to the subject. This volume brings together recent advances in the study of European transhumance during historical times from Sweden to Spain, Romania to Ireland and beyond that even Newfoundland. While the focus is on the archaeology of seasonal sites used by shepherds and cowherds, the contributions exhibit a high degree of interdisciplinarity. Documentary, cartographic, ethnographic and palaeoecological evidence all play a part in the examination of seasonal movement and settlement in medieval and post-medieval landscapes. Notwithstanding the obvious diversity across Europe in terms of livestock, distances travelled and socio-economic context, an extended introduction to the volume shows that cross-cutting themes are now emerging, including mobility, gendered herding, collective land use, the agency of non-elite people and competition for grazing and markets. The book will appeal not only to archaeologists but to historians, geographers, ethnographers, palaeoecologists and anyone interested in rural lifeways across Europe.

South Uist Michael Parker Pearson, Niall M. Sharples, James Symonds, 2004. Archaeology and history of South Uist Scottish Life and Society

Kenneth Veitch, 2009. Explores a variety of topics on the theme of transport and communications. This volume includes chapters that are divided into five thematic sections: water transport, land transport, air transport, communications and transport and communications in their wider contexts. The Antiquaries Journal, 2002
