Austerity In Britain Rationing Controls And Consumption 1939 1955:

Austerity in Britain Ina Zweiniger-Bargielowska, 2000-05-04 Austerity in Britain is the first book to explore the entire episode of rationing austerity and fair shares from 1939 until 1955 These policies were central to the British war effort and to post war reconstruction The book analyses the connections between government policy consumption gender and party politics during and after the Second World War The economic background to austerity the policy s administration and changes in consumption standards are examined Rationing resulted in at times extensive black markets and popular attitudes to the policy ranged from wartime acquiescence to post war discontent Austerity in Britain qualifies the myth of common sacrifice on the home front and highlights the limitations of the fair shares policy which failed to achieve genuine equality between classes or between men and women The continuation of rationing and austerity policies after 1945 was central to party politics Disaffection particularly among women undermined Labour s popularity while the Conservatives critique of austerity was instrumental to the party s victories at the general elections of 1951 and 1955

The Cultural Politics of Austerity R. Bramall, 2013-10-31 This timely book examines austerity s conflicted meanings from austerity chic and anti austerity protest to economic and eco austerity Bramall s compelling text explores the presence and persuasiveness of the past developing a new approach to the historical in contemporary cultural politics

Women's Experiences of the Second World War Mark J. Crowley, Sandra Trudgen Dawson, 2021 Using a very wide range of detailed sources the book surveys the many different experiences of women during the Second World War

Housewives and citizens Caitriona Beaumont, 2016-05-16 After an extremely successful debut in hardback Housewives and citizens is now available in paperback for the first time This book explores the contribution that five conservative voluntary and popular women s organisations made to women s lives and to the campaign for women s rights throughout the period 1928 64 The book challenges existing histories of the women s movement that suggest the movement went into decline during the inter war period only to be revived by the emergence of the Women s Liberation Movement in the late 1960s It is argued that the term women s movement must be revised to allow a broader understanding of female agency encompassing feminist political religious and conservative women s groups who campaigned to improve the status of women throughout the twentieth century The book provides a radical re assessment of this period of women s history and in doing so makes a significant contribution to ongoing debates about the shape and impact of the women s movement in twentieth century Britain

Transfer State Peter Sloman, 2019-10-30 The idea of a guaranteed minimum income has been central to British social policy debates for more than a century Since the First World War a variety of market economists radical activists and social reformers have emphasized the possibility of tackling poverty through direct cash transfers between the state and its citizens As manufacturing employment has declined and wage inequality has grown since the 1970s cash benefits and tax credits have become an important source of income for millions of working age households including many low paid workers with children The nature and purpose of these transfer payments however remain highly contested Conservative and New Labour governments have used in work benefits and conditionality requirements to activate the unemployed and reinforce the incentives to take low paid work an approach which has reached its apogee in Universal Credit By contrast a growing number of campaigners have argued that the challenge of providing economic security in an age of automation would be better met by paying a Universal Basic Income to all citizens Transfer State provides the first detailed history of guaranteed income proposals in modern Britain which brings together intellectual history and archival research to show how the pursuit of an integrated tax and benefit system has shaped UK public policy since 1918 The result is a major new analysis of the role of cash transfers in the British welfare state which sets Universal Credit in a historical perspective and examines the cultural and political barriers to a Universal Basic Income Tel-Aviv, the First Century Maoz Azaryahu, S. Ilan Troen, 2020-03-04 A learned and engaging collection of essays on Israel's diverse modern metropolis established in 1909 Religious Studies Review Tel Aviv the First Century brings together a broad range of scholars and cutting edge research to trace the development and paradoxes of Tel Aviv as an urban center and a national symbol Through the lenses of history literature urban planning gender studies architecture art and other fields these essays reveal the place of Tel Aviv in the life and imagination of its diverse inhabitants The careful and insightful tracing of the development of the city's landscape the relationship of its varied architecture to its competing social cultures and its evolving place in Israel's literary imagination come together to offer a vivid and complex picture of Tel Aviv as a microcosm of Israeli life and a vibrant modern global city Israel's main metropolis is scrutinized through the lens of history geography architecture art literature and gender studies presenting the many facets that have come to constitute the elaborate personality of a very complicated city and society H Judaic War, Agriculture, and Food Paul Brassley, Yves Segers, Leen van Molle, 2012 Between the 1930s and the 1950s rural life in Europe underwent profound changes partly as a result of the Second World War and partly as a result of changes which had been in progress over many years This book examines a range of European countries from Scandinavia to Spain and Ireland to Hungary during this crucial period and identifies the common pressures to which they all responded and the features that were unique to individual countries In particular it examines the processes of agricultural development over western Europe as a whole the impact of the war on international trading patterns the relationships between states and farmers and the changing identities of rural populations It presents a bold attempt to write rural history on a European scale and will be of interest not only to historians and historical geographers but also to those interested in the historical background to the Common Agricultural Policy of the European Union to which the changes discussed here provided a dramatic prologue Agriculture in Capitalist Europe, 1945-1960 Carin Martiin, Juan Pan-Montojo, Paul Brassley, 2016-06-17 In the years before the Second World War agriculture in most European states was carried out on peasant or small family farms using technologies that relied mainly on organic inputs and local knowledge and skills supplying products into a market that was partly local or national partly international The war applied a profound shock to this system In some countries farms became battlefields causing the extensive destruction of buildings crops and livestock In others farmers had to respond to calls from the state for increased production to cope with the effects of wartime disruption of international trade By the end of the war food was rationed when it was obtainable at all Only fifteen years later the erstwhile enemies were planning ways of bringing about a single agricultural market across much of continental western Europe as farmers mechanised motorized shed labour invested capital and adopted new technologies to increase output This volume brings together scholars working on this period of dramatic technical commercial and political change in agriculture from the end of the Second World War to the emergence of the Common Agricultural Policy in the early 1960s Their work is structured around four themes the changes in the international political order within which agriculture operated the emergence of a range of different market regulation schemes that preceded the CAP changes in technology and the extent to which they were promoted by state policy and the impact of these political and technical changes on rural societies in western Europe

An Affluent Society? Lawrence Black, Hugh Pemberton, 2017-07-28 During an election speech in 1957 the Prime Minister Harold Macmillan famously remarked that most of our people have never had it so good Although taken out of context this phrase soon came to epitomize the sense of increased affluence and social progress that was prevalent in Britain during the 1950s and 1960s Yet despite the recognition that Britain had moved away from an era of rationing and scarcity to a new age of choice and plenty there was simultaneously a parallel feeling that the nation was in decline and being economically outstripped by its international competitors Whilst the study of Britain's postwar history is a well trodden path and the paradox of absolute growth versus relative decline much debated it is here approached in a fresh and rewarding way Rather than highlighting economic and industrial decline this volume emphasizes the tremendous impact of rising affluence and consumerism on British society It explores various expressions of affluence new consumer goods shifting social and cultural values changes in popular expectations of policy shifting popular political behaviour changing attitudes of politicians towards the electorate and the representation of affluence in popular culture and advertising By focusing on the widespread cultural consequences of increasing levels of consumerism emphasizing growth over decline and recognizing the rising standards of living enjoyed by most Britons a new and intriguing window is opened on the complexities of this golden age Contrasting growing consumer expectations and demands against the anxieties of politicians and economists this book offers all students of the period a new perspective from which to view post imperial Britain and to question many conventional historical assumptions

Training minds for the war of ideas Clarisse Berthezène, 2024-06-04 This book examines attempts by the Conservative party in the interwar years to capture the brains of the new electorate and create a counter culture to what they saw as the intellectual hegemony of the Left It tells the fascinating story of the Bonar Law Memorial College Ashridge founded in 1929 as a College of citizenship to provide political education through both teaching and publications The College aimed at creating Conservative Fabians who were to publish and disseminate Conservative literature which meant not only explicitly political works but literary historical and cultural work that carried implicit Conservative messages This book modifies our understanding of the history of the Conservative party and popular Conservatism but also more generally of the history of intellectual debate in Britain It sheds new light on the history of the middlebrow and how that category became a weapon for the Conservatives
