Hammond, 2000-06-01 Jeffrey Hammond's study takes an anthropological approach to the most popular form of poetry in early New England the funeral elegy Hammond reconstructs the historical theological and cultural contexts of these poems to demonstrate how they responded to a specific process of mourning defined by Puritan views on death and grief The elegies emerge he argues not as poems to be read and appreciated in a post romantic sense but as performative scripts that consoled readers by shaping their experience of loss in accordance with theological expectation Read in the framework of their own time and place the elegies shed light on the emotional dimension of Puritanism and the important role of ritual in Puritan culture Hammond's book reassesses a body of poems whose importance on their own time has been obscured by almost total neglect in ours It represents the first full length study of its kind in English Malory's History of King Arthur and the Quest of the Holy Grail Sir Thomas Malory, 1886 *Malory's history of king Arthur and the quest of the holy grail, from the Morte d'Arthur, ed. by E. Subjects is one of the first works to analyse the imperial school curriculum and the ways in which it shaped and influenced Indian subjectivity. The author focuses on the endeavours of the colonial government missionaries and native stakeholders in determining the physical material and intellectual content of institutional learning in India. Further, the volume compares the changes in pedagogical practices and textbooks in schools in Britain and colonial Bengal and its subsequent repercussions on the psyche and identity of the learners. Drawing on a host of primary sources in the UK and India, this volume will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of modern history, education, sociology and South Asian studies. Presbyterian Banner, 1902
