Reading Passage: Frog

Frogs are a small amphibian known for their long, sticky tongues that they use to catch their food. Frogs live in both water and on land, which means their body temperature is the same as the outside temperature. Frogs absorb water through their skin. Frogs live in most areas of the world especially warmer environments. Frogs eat insects with their sticky tongues. Frogs have to be careful not to become prey to animals like fish, raccoons, and snakes. Male frogs will croak to attract females. Would you like to see a frog?
