Bc Provincial Exam Study Guide Science 1:

Human Rights, Diversity, and National Identity Patricia E. Bromley, 2011 Fundamental world changes that simultaneously undermine a nation state's charisma and promote the rise of a supra national system have wide ranging effects upon national states within a modern global society My dissertation empirically examines the effects of social and cultural globalization on systems of mass schooling which are central institutions in every country Globally primary and secondary education initially emerged as the premier tool for nation states to create a unified national citizenry loyal to their country and socialized into a common cultural tradition I examine the extent to which this original nationalizing purpose of schooling is challenged by the increased emphases on universal human rights and diversity in civic education The analyses consist of two sections Hierarchical linear models are used to analyze a unique primary data source of 521 social science textbooks from 74 countries during the period 1970-2008 These findings show a worldwide increase in emphasis on human rights and increases in discussions of diversity in well established liberal democracies Cross national quantitative analyses are complemented by a qualitative case study of social science curricula in British Columbia BC which examines nation building within a context of strong emphasis on diversity and human rights The BC study utilizes currently approved high school citizenship education textbooks as well as older textbooks dating back to 1871 It also draws on a selection of historical documents including Ministry of Education reports curricular frameworks and high school exit exams Process wise I find the incorporation of human rights and diversity reflects macro level changes in national and global society Content wise I find four main approaches to reconciling ideas of human rights and diversity with national identity 1 framing human rights and multiculturalism as part of national identity 2 using pedagogical approaches that promote multiple perspectives and individual agency 3 celebrating social and scientific figures and accomplishments as the source of national pride and 4 drawing on exogenous sources to affirm state legitimacy This study is one of the first to theorize that civic education worldwide is moving away from a national focus and to provide empirical evidence of this trend A key implication is that educational systems are being repurposed from their original goal of constructing a unitary national citizenry to a new view emphasizing human diversity and equality in a globally interconnected world Further students are increasingly taught that the global civil society and non state actors are important and legitimate agents of social change Resources in Education, 1994

Rethinking Science Education Roland M. Schulz, 2014-08-01 This book presents a philosophy of science education as a research field as well as its value for curriculum instruction and teacher pedagogy It seeks to re think science education as an educational endeavour by examining why past reform efforts have been only partially successful including why the fundamental goal of achieving scientific literacy after several reform waves has proven to be so elusive The identity of such a philosophy is first defined in relation to the fields of philosophy philosophy of science and philosophy of education It argues that educational theory can support teacher's pedagogical content knowledge and that history philosophy and sociology of science should inform and influence pedagogy Some case studies are provided which examine the nature of science and the nature of language to illustrate why and how a philosophy of science education contributes to science education reform It seeks to contribute in general to the improvement of curriculum design and science teacher education The perspective to be taken on board is that to teach science is to have a philosophical frame of mind about the subject about education about one s personal teacher identity Associations Canada ,2007 Swedish Economic Policy Review ,1999
