MacWelch, 2020-11-17 In this action oriented book a survival expert walks you through what to do in dozens of scary situations from riding out a tsunami to surviving the fall of civilization Fast paced and remarkably practical this latest book from best selling survival expert Tim MacWelch breaks down the odds of your facing dozens of scary situations from the fairly likely getting lost in the woods or mugged on the mean streets for example to the unlikely but terrifying being hit by an asteroid attacked by zombies or other sci fi worthy scenarios and provides concrete doable strategies for how to improve your odds of survival Each danger is rated with handy graphics that give an at a glance idea as to how likely it is to befall you how much you should worry about it happening and how possible it is to increase your odds of survival And then in the pages that follow he gives practical step by step instructions tutorials and hints to help you beat the odds and live to tell the tale

Adopting On Your Own Lee Varon, 2000-10-04 Addresses questions and concerns of prospective single adoptive parents and provides information on transracial and international adoption and the rights of gays and lesbians to adopt Fast

Track Adoption Susan Burns, 2003-12-05 Haunted by Empire Ann Laura Stoler, 2006-05-05 DIVA groundbreaking interdisciplinary collection that rethinks the connection between the intimate and United States colonial and postcolonial histories div Two Little Girls Theresa Reid, 2007-04-03 Theresa Reid chronicles the long often excruciating and ultimately joyous journey that led her to adopt two little girls from Russia and Ukraine in an unforgettable true story of fragile hopes and steadfast love In Chicago Theresa Reid and her husband had lucrative professional careers and a beautiful home What was missing from their lives was children But they knew that in Eastern Europe there were children who were missing parents and they set out to find their family There were self doubts and gut wrenching fears mountains of paperwork and nerve wracking interviews agonizing choices and false starts There was the painful awareness of thousands of children languishing in poorly funded orphanages waiting with little hope for someone to embrace them and bring them home And there were byzantine bureaucracies and poverty stricken conditions in the former Soviet Republic where beyond the borders they crossed and the obstacles they navigated with fierce determination two little girls waited This is Theresa Reid s emotionally candid vividly detailed account of how Natalie and Lana came to be her daughters a journey into the deepest parts of a mother s heart Innovation in Odds-Beating Schools Kristen C. Wilcox, Hal A. Lawson, Janet I. Angelis, 2017-01-06

Three policy innovations at the heart of this book the Common Core State Standards CCSS new Annual Professional Performance Review APPR and data driven instruction DDI provide a timely opportunity to join school and district improvement and policy implementation research with improvement science This book is not just a collection of findings about odds beating schools those with higher than predicted student performance trends and higher than average poverty and diversity and their journeys to implement these innovations It also provides timely perspectives regarding policy innovations and how they might disrupt practice in desirable or undesirable ways This book offers readers insight into how educators at every boundary classroom school and district interact to make meaning of innovations both individually and collectively and also how their meanings and values influence innovation implementation outcomes The story includes details how policy innovations were tailored to school and district office priorities the features of these schools structures climates and routines that were conducive to implementation and how these innovations were able to penetrate the classroom boundaries

Beating the Adoption Game Cynthia D. Martin, 1980 Eastern European Adoption Josephine A. Ruggiero, 2017-09-08 Between 1990 and 2006 more than 76 000 children born in Eastern Europe were adopted into American families Almost two thirds of these children came from Russia And in contrast to children adopted from Korea China Central America and South America most of the Russian children were not infants but between one and four years old This volume addresses adoption policies and practices as they pertain to adopted children from Eastern Europe children who have histories of pre adoption adversity Drawing on her decade long experience as an adoptive parent of siblings born in Russia and her expertise as an applied sociologist Josephine Ruggiero examines the central issues involved in international adoptions focusing on older children as well as siblings and suggesting needed changes in policy and practice Regardless of whether children are adopted domestically or internationally age is a significant factor in their ability to adjust to and function well in their new families Only about three in ten Russian adoptees joined their new families as infants Pre adoption experiences are also significant factors in a child s ability to adjust and function well in a new family Countries differ in risk factors that may figure into the likelihood of adoptees adapting to life in a new family Fetal Alcohol Syndrome serious medical conditions emotional problems behavioral problems attachment issues learning disabilities and exposure to family violence must be considered as potential risk factors in adoptions Pre adoption adversity is less likely when children come from birth families that are economically poor but have bonded with them At a time when adoption has finally come out of the closet and the definition of the family is changing dramatically Eastern European Adoption takes a much needed look at current adoption policies and practices and how well they do or do not work Ruggiero draws on the literature on older child and sibling adoption and data from a questionnaire survey she designed and conducted with 121 adoptive parents Ruggiero s examples from real adoptive families give a human face to the issues needs and strategies she discusses
