

Anecdotal Evidence

The use of informal examples to support an argument or position.

Overview

- Personal testimonies whereby one person says something about their subjective experience.
- Word of mouth whereby stories are spread from person to person, often with each person changing the narrative a little.
- Eyewitness accounts from individuals who witnessed an event.
- Folklore such as myths or truisms that have their roots in historical storytelling.
- Confirmation bias and the tendency to seek out evidence to confirm your beliefs.
- Proof by example whereby you offer a few statistically insignificant examples as "proof."
- Anecdotal evidence can have some value. For example, it is often used as a starting point for research or investigation.

Examples

1. A friend tells you that lemon water makes them more energetic.
2. A rumor about a colleague at work.
3. The testimony of someone who witnessed an accident.
4. A local myth that couples who go on a particular theme park attraction together always end up breaking up.
5. You believe that paper is stronger than wood so you search social media for "paper is stronger than wood" to try to find someone who can confirm your belief.
6. A professor suggests that earthquakes are good for the economy and gives one example of economic growth that occurred in a region after a big earthquake.
7. A research project investigates the traditional belief that a food has particular health benefits.
