2011-2012 GRANT APPLICATION GUIDELINES

In order to be considered for a grant from the National Institutes of Health, the applicant must be a U.S. or foreign organization. The purposes of grants for research and education studies related to the human condition are to promote and advance scientific knowledge through the provision of:

The National Institutes of Health also solicits research proposals that include health-related support activities, which are funded through a separate process. These programs are independently evaluated according to panel III, with NCIH's strategic health research priorities, study feasibility and cost, and the applicant's research history for review. Researcher's interest in applying should include a term page proposal summary including the proposed project description, anticipated overall budget, a brief two-year project timeline relevant to the project, and existing resources and facilities for successful project completion. The situation for each nation's proposed summary is: Summary III, 2011.

Grant applications in terms of NCIH will not be considered. Grant applications will be given priority based on: 1) research interest and 2) cost. Applications for grant and will be evaluated first, regardless of the funding, equipment, infrastructure, and/or other programs relevant for consideration.

Non-profit organizations interested in submitting a grant request to the National Institutes of Health should contact NCIH Grant Coordinator. There is no official grant award application form. However, grant requests will not be considered without complete documentation related to the NCIH Grant Coordinator.

- (1) Major activities of the last three years representing significant activity.
- (2) A brief history of the applying organization along with its mission, strategic programs, and equipment, and budget for the current year.
- (3) A list of the current Board of Directors.
