Bruno Latour Reassembling The Political Modern European Thinkers:

Bruno Latour Graham Harman, 2014-10-20 Bruno Latour the French sociologist anthropologist and long established superstar in the social sciences is revisited in this pioneering account of his ever evolving political philosophy Breaking from the traditional focus on his metaphysics most recently seen in Harman's book Prince of Networks the author instead begins with the Hobbesian and even Machiavellian underpinnings of Latour's early period encountering his shift towards Carl Schmitt then finishing with his final development into the Lippmann Dewey debate Harman brings these twists and turns into sharp focus in terms of Latour's personal political thinking Along with Latour's most important articles on political themes the book chooses three works as exemplary of the distinct periods in Latour's thinking The Pasteurization of France Politics of Nature and the recently published An Inquiry Into Modes of Existence as his conception of politics evolves from a global power struggle between individuals to the fabrication of fragile parliamentary networks to just one mode of existence among many others

No Other Planet Mathias Thaler, 2022-09-22 Visions of utopia some hopeful others fearful have become increasingly prevalent in recent times This groundbreaking timely book examines expressions of the utopian imagination with a focus on the pressing challenge of how to inhabit a climate changed world Forms of social dreaming are tracked across two domains political theory and speculative fiction The analysis aims to both uncover the key utopian and dystopian tendencies in contemporary debates around the Anthropocene as well as to develop a political theory of radical transformation that avoids not only debilitating fatalism but also wishful thinking This book juxtaposes theoretical interventions from Bruno Latour to the members of the Dark Mountain collective with fantasy and science fiction texts by N K Jemisin Kim Stanley Robinson and Margaret Atwood debating viable futures for a world that will look and feel very different from the one we live in right now

All Things Act Assistant Professor of Philosophy Mercedes Valmisa, Mercedes Valmisa, 2025 This book explores the collective character of action to expand the ways we think about agency First it resists viewing agency as a capacity much less one exclusive to humans Instead it defines agency as an umbrella term for the concrete sociomaterial processes that emerge from the collaborative efforts of multiple entities acting together Agency isn't the faculty of an individual entity or self it's always the function of a network or assembly of actors Second many of the actors involved in these processes are nonhuman things without intentions will or even awareness This relational and collective approach adopts a conception of action that doesn't hinge on mental states To act is to participate in contribute to shape facilitate organize constrain and modify the course of events This book argues that there's no such thing as an individual action and that agency is collectively distributed across a heterogeneous field of human and nonhuman actors Provided by publisher

The Idea of the Sciences in the French Enlightenment G. Matthew Adkins, 2013-11-29 This book challenges common historical misperceptions of both the history of the sciences in early modern France and the history of the French Enlightenment By reexamining the moral political and social ideas of those who defended the ascendancy of the sciences this book demonstrates the evolution of political views Realist Biography and European Policy Jeffrey David Turk, Adam Mrozowicki, 2013-12-11 Realist Biography and European Policy is the first concerted attempt to integrate the separate strands of critical realism as a developed philosophy for social science with biographical narrative methods as a concrete methodological approach The main goal is to demonstrate that the combination of critical realism and biographical methods is not only possible but it is exceptionally well suited for the exploration of newly emerging research fields within European policy studies This volume offers new insights to and is an indispensable reference for researchers in search of solid underpinnings for their own empirical research Foreword by Miriam Kennet Director of the Green Economics Institute Founder and Editor of the International Journal of Green Economics Contributors Tatiana Bajuk Sen ar Scientific Research Centre of the Slovenian Academy of Sciences and Arts Institute of Slovenian Ethnology Bob Carter University of Leicester Department of Sociology Prue Chamberlayne Open University Faculty of Health and Social Care Markieta Domecka independent researcher Norbert Kluge coordinator and adviser for the European Works Council of ThyssenKrupp AG Lyudmila Nurse director of Oxford XXI Elisabetta Perone University of Naples Federico II Valeria Pulignano Centre for Sociological Research KU Leuven Antonella Span University of Naples Federico II Tom Wengraf Middlesex University

Money as a Social Institution Ann Davis, 2017-07-14 Money is usually understood as a valuable object the value of which is attributed to it by its users and which other users recognize It serves to link disparate institutions providing a disguised whole and prime tool for the invisible hand of the market This book offers an interpretation of money as a social institution Money provides the link between the household and the firm the worker and his product making that very division seem natural and money as imminently practical Money as a Social Institution begins in the medieval period and traces the evolution of money alongside consequent implications for the changing models of the corporation and the state This is then followed with double entry accounting as a tool of long distance merchants and bankers then the monitoring of the process of production by professional corporate managers Davis provides a framework of analysis for examining money historically beyond the operation of those particular institutions which includes the possibility of conceptualizing and organizing the world differently This volume is of great importance to academics and students who are interested in economic history and history of economic thought as well as international political economics and critique of political economy Waste Works Brenda Chalfin, 2023-03-06 In Waste Works Brenda Chalfin examines Ghana s planned city of Tema theorizing about the formative role of waste infrastructure in urban politics and public life Chalfin argues that at Tema s midcentury founding a prime objective of governing authorities was to cultivate self contained citizens by means of tightly orchestrated domestic infrastructure and centralized control of bodily excrement to both develop and depoliticize the new nation Comparing infrastructural innovations across the city Chalfin excavates how Tema residents pursue novel approaches to urban waste and sanitation built on the ruins of the inherited order profoundly altering the urban public sphere Once decreed a private matter to be guaranteed by state authorities excrement becomes a public issue collectively managed by private persons Pushing self care into public space and extending domestic responsibility for public well being and bodily outputs popularly devised waste infrastructures are a decisive arena to make claims build coalitions and cultivate status Confounding high modernist ideals excremental infrastructures unlock bodily waste s diverse political potentials State Secrecy and Security William Walters,2021-05-03 In State Secrecy and Security Refiguring the Covert Imaginary William Walters calls for secrecy to be given a more central place in critical security studies and elevated to become a core concept when theorising power in liberal democracies Through investigations into such themes as the mobility of cryptographic secrets the power of public inquiries the connection between secrecy and place making and the aesthetics of secrecy within immigration enforcement Walters challenges commonplace understandings of the covert and develops new concepts methods and themes for secrecy and security research Walters identifies the covert imaginary as both a limit on our ability to think politics differently and a ground to develop a richer understanding of power State Secrecy and Security offers readers a set of thinking tools to better understand the strange powers that hiding revealing lying confessing professing ignorance and many other operations of secrecy put in motion It will be a valuable resource for scholars and students of security secrecy and politics more broadly

Fortress Power Derek S. Denman,2025-07-08 A compelling treatise on the relationship between power and enclosure Fortress Power presents a genealogy of fortification as a material and political technology intent on obstruction tracing its implementation across battlefields borders and urban environments Drawing on the influential work of philosophers Michel Foucault and Giorgio Agamben Derek S Denman places the fortress alongside the archetypes of the prison and the camp citing them as paradigmatic of how space is transformed into a tool of domination and control Focusing on the defensive architecture of bastion fortresses urban design and border landscapes Fortress Power charts the rise of a form of governance grounded in hostility extending the scope of its subject from a piece of military construction to a much broader political concept Detailing how power manifests in everything from city centers to international boundaries the book analyzes the logic of fortification as it moves through various contexts in the advancement of surveillance exploitation warfare and political authority Through a unique blend of architecture and design studies political theory international relations geography and migration studies Denman outlines the disquieting legacy of the fortress to highlight its role in the formation of modern government and the enactment of violence In an era marked by the increasing prevalence of authoritarian power and conflicting geopolitical boundaries he presents an insightful investigation of the weaponization of the built environment

Collective Understanding, Radicalism, and Literary History, 1645-1742 Melissa Mowry,2021 Explores the ways in which the non elite literary culture of the late seventeenth to mid eighteenth centuries worked to produce knowledge through collaborative means in opposition to this period s more widely recognized focus on the authority of individuality
