Anglo Saxon Food And Drink Production Processing Distribution And Consumption:

Anglo-Saxon Food and Drink Ann Hagen, 2006 Food production for home consumption was the basis of economic activity throughout the Anglo Saxon period and ensuring access to an adequate food supply was a constant preoccupation. Used as payment and a medium of trade, food was the basis of the Anglo Saxons' system of finance and administration. Information on the production, processing, distribution and consumption of food from the fifth to the eleventh centuries from literary and archaeological sources has been brought together to give fascinating insights into this important aspect of Anglo Saxon life.

Farming Transformed in Anglo-Saxon England Mark McKerracher, 2018-02-21 Anglo Saxon farming has traditionally been seen as the wellspring of English agriculture, setting the pattern for 1000 years to come, but it was more important than that. A rich harvest of archaeological data is now revealing the untold story of agricultural innovation: the beginnings of a revolution in the age of Bede. Armed with a powerful new dataset, Farming Transformed explores fundamental questions about the minutiae of early medieval farming and its wider relevance. How old were sheep left to grow, for example, and what pathologies did cattle sustain? What does wheat chaff have to do with lordship and the market economy? What connects ovens in Roman Germany with barley maltings in early medieval Northamptonshire? And just how interested were Saxon nuns in cultivating the opium poppy? Farming Transformed is the first book to draw together the variegated evidence of pollen, sediments, charred seeds, animal bones, watermills, corn drying ovens, granaries and stockyards on an extensive regional scale. The result is an interdisciplinary dataset of unprecedented scope and size which reveals how cereal cultivation boomed and new watermills, granaries and ovens were erected to cope with and flaunt the fat of the land. As arable farming grew at the expense of pasture, sheep and cattle came under closer management and lived longer lives, yielding more wool, dairy goods and traction power for plowing. These and other innovations are found to be concentrated at royal, aristocratic and monastic centers, placing lordship at the forefront of agricultural innovation and farming as the force behind kingdom formation and economic resurgence in the seventh and eighth centuries.

The Anglo-Saxon Agricultural Revolution in Norfolk Richard Hoggett, Neil Faulkner, 2025-07-03 This volume brings together insights from a 2020 conference celebrating 25 years of archaeological work at Sedgeford. Exploring life in the long 8th century, it highlights new perspectives on agriculture, estate development, trade and society in Middle Anglo Saxon Norfolk and its wider European context.

Anglo-Saxon Crops and Weeds: A Case Study in Quantitative Archaeobotany Mark McKerracher, 2019-03-28 Farming practices underwent momentous transformations in the Mid Saxon period between the 7th and 9th centuries AD. This study applies a standardised set of repeatable quantitative analyses to the charred remains of Anglo Saxon crops and weeds to shed light on crucial developments in crop husbandry between the 7th and 9th centuries.

Food, Eating and Identity in Early Medieval England Allen J. Frantzen, 2014 A fresh approach to the implications of obtaining, preparing and consuming food, concentrating on the little investigated routines of everyday life. Food in the Middle Ages usually evokes images of feasting speeches and special occasions even though most evidence of food culture consists of fragments of ordinary things such as knives cooking pots and grinding stones which are rarely mentioned by contemporary writers This book puts daily life and its objects at the centre of the food world It brings together archaeological and textual evidence to show how words and implements associated with food contributed to social identity at all levels of Anglo Saxon society It also looks at the networks which connected fields to kitchens and linked rural centres to trading sites Fasting redesigned field systems and the place of fish in the diet are examined in a wide ranging interdisciplinary inquiry into the power of food to reveal social complexity Allen J Frantzen is Professor of English at Loyola University Chicago Pattern and Process in the Material Culture of Anglo-Saxon Non-elite Rural Settlements Hana Lewis, 2019 UCL Institute of Archaeology PhD Series Volume 1 The research presented in this book advances scholarship on Anglo Saxon non elite rural settlements through the analysis of material culture Forty four non elite sites and the high status site of Staunton Mead occupied throughout the Anglo Saxon period c 5th 11th centuries and geographically representative of Anglo Saxon settlement in England were selected for study Comparative analyses of the material culture assemblages and settlement data from these sites were evaluated from four main research perspectives the archaeological contexts and distributional patterns of material culture at the sites the range and character of material culture patterns of material culture consumption and material culture as evidence for the economic reach of rural settlements Stratton, Biggleswade: 1,300 Years of Village Life in Eastern Bedfordshire from the 5th Century AD Drew Shotliff, David Ingham, 2022-04-28 Presents the results of 12 hectares of archaeological excavation undertaken between 1990 2001 As well as uncovering roughly half of the medieval village the investigations revealed that Stratton's origins stretched back to the early Anglo Saxon period with the settlement remaining in continuous use through to c 1700 The Brewer's Tale William Bostwick, 2014-09-29 Winner of 2014 U S Gourmand Drinks Award Taste 5 000 years of brewing history as a time traveling homebrewer rediscovers and re creates the great beers of the past The Brewer's Tale is a beer filled journey into the past the story of brewers gone by and one brave writer's quest to bring them and their ancient forgotten beers back to life one taste at a time This is the story of the world according to beer a toast to flavors born of necessity and place in Belgian monasteries rundown farmhouses and the basement nanobrewery next door So pull up a barstool and raise a glass to 5 000 years of fermented magic Fueled by date and honey gruel sour pediococcus laced lambics and all manner of beers between William Bostwick's rollicking quest for the drink's origins takes him into the redwood forests of Sonoma County to bullet riddled South Boston brewpubs and across the Atlantic from Mesopotamian sands to medieval monasteries to British brewing factories Bostwick compares notes with the Mt Vernon historian in charge of preserving George Washington's molasses based home brew and he finds the ancestor of today's macrobrewed lagers in a nineteenth century spy's hollowed out walking stick Wrapped around this modern reportage are deeply informed tales of history's archetypal brewers Babylonian temple workers Nordic shamans patriots rebels and monks

The Brewer's Tale unfurls from the ancient goddess Ninkasi ruler of intoxication to the cryptic beer hymns of the Rig Veda and down into the clove scented treasure holds of India bound sailing ships With each discovery comes Bostwick's own turn at the brew pot an exercise that honors the audacity and experimentation of the craft A sticky English porter a pricelessly rare Belgian and a sacred shamanic wormwood tinged gruit each offer humble communion with the brewers of yore From sickly sweet Nordic grogs to industrially fine tuned fizzy lager Bostwick's journey into brewing history ultimately arrives at the head of the modern craft beer movement and gazes eagerly if a bit blurry eyed toward the future of beer
