Mark Ph. D., Charles W. Mark, 2010 Our brains are getting wired differently in the world of digital technology information revolution and in the inter cultural world of global society Think of the new vocabulary Global brain collective intelligence global village and cyberspace That should tell us something about the neural rewiring that is taking place inside of our brains whether or not we are aware of it The fact that the human brain changes throughout a person's life in response to intellectual stimulation physical exercise exposure to new cultural environments learning opportunities and challenges is a revolutionary discovery Till twenty years ago neuroscientists believed in the conventional theory that the brain's ability at making new neural connections stopped before a child entered adolescence That is the old dogma There is a Second Copernican Revolution taking place inside of our brains writes the author quoting Carl Zimmer Some experts are suggesting that we are already living in what Richard Restack calls the neurosociety Ray Kurzweil the futurist is predicting that by 2045 A D human beings will be living in an era of singularity when non biological machines invented by human brains and human ingenuity are going to outsmart human intelligence billions of times What is going to be the fate of the human spirit human spirituality the feeling of connection to a force and power that is greater than us God our ability to use spiritual imagination and our intelligence Are we progressively moving away from religion and community based spirituality into the spirituality of different strokes for different folks In his groundbreaking book Spiritual Intelligence and The Neuroplastic Brain A

Diederich, Martin Brüne, Katrin Amunts, Christopher G. Goetz, Professor of Neurological Sciences and Pharmacology Christopher G Goetz, 2024 Traditionally studies and textbooks in Neurology or Psychiatry as well as allied disciplines deal with proximate causes of diseases and therapies but remain mute or minimally interested in their ultimate causes including the phylogeny and adaptive significance of disease manifestations Yet as clinicians or basic researchers we are conscious of potential evolutionary roots of neurological and psychiatric symptoms often offering a rudimentary explanation but never delving deeply into the current role of evolutionary science as it relates to health and disease We may miss appreciation of the role of adaptive properties evolutionarily based neuronal circuitries unbalanced cellular energy demands and the potential health consequences of residual syndromic behaviors that were possibly useful in early times of human development but presently are obsolete and pathological The problem is amplified because there is often no interdisciplinary dialogue between anthropology and evolutionary biology on one side and clinical sciences on the other side However the evolutionary tracing back of disease pathways may disclose unexpected insights and trigger the design of innovative research as well as propel the development of new therapeutic interventions There could also be a better apprehension of compensatory behaviors both at the cellular level as well as the systemic the behavioural levels that could be the expected fruits of such collaborations So far scientists fall short in modeling the complexity of human social life human language or manual dexterity and mental or emotional behaviors that typify human neurological or psychological function and dysfunction Finally there remain obstacles in the form of poor animal modeling for human brain diseases and for human longevity The present book aims to fill these gaps by presenting an evolutionary view of neurological and psychiatric conditions that is meant to complement and enrich existing medical perspectives Primal Roots of American Philosophy Bruce Wilshire, 2010-11-01 Continuing his quest to bring American philosophy back to its roots Bruce Wilshire connects the work of such thinkers as Thoreau Emerson Dewey and James with Native American beliefs and practices His search is not for exact parallels but rather for fundamental affinities between the equally organismic thought systems of indigenous peoples and classic American philosophers Wilshire gives particular emphasis to the affinities between Black Elk's view of the hoop of the world and Emerson's notion of horizon and also between a shaman's healing practices and James's ideas of pure experience willingness to believe and a pluralistic universe As these connections come into focus the book shows how European phenomenology was inspired and influenced by the classic American philosophers whose own work reveals the inspiration and influence of indigenous thought Wilshire's book also reveals how artificial are the walls that separate the sciences and the humanities in academia and that separate Continental from Anglo American thought within the single discipline of philosophy
