Cerebral Visual Impairment in Children Josef Zihl,Gordon N. Dutton,2014-10-24 Cerebral visual disorders have far reaching consequences for child development These have profound adverse effects on children s education and success in school and also in later life but unfortunately cerebral visual disorders often remain undiagnosed and untreated in the pediatric population This book provides a state of the art account of what is known about the development and disorders of visual perception in children It covers the development and disorders of visual perception in children their assessment early intervention and management in an interdisciplinary context both from a scientific as well as clinical perspective Case studies illustrate the recommended assessment and rehabilitation procedures synopses boxes and check lists complement the presentation of our recommendations for clinical practice

Preadmission Assessment 1 E.

Frost, 2012-12-06 The primary mission of the medical school is to create new doctors Once the medical student has received his or her doctorate the medical school's interest in and acceptance of responsibility for the continued professional development of the physician ceases almost entirely Yet with scientific advances in medicine increasing exponentially and the inevitable erosion of memory with time teachings from our schools of medicine become increasingly irrelevant forgotten or both To maintain competence the physician must continuously re educate him or herself CME Continuing Medical Education will probably never attain the status of the medical school's degree granting undergraduate program but medical schools and their faculties must recognize their responsibility not creating competent physicians but also for maintaining that competence is the product of a Continuing Medical Education program This volume initiated by the Department of Anesthesiology at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine Montefiore Medical Center Our Department of Anesthesiology has historically been and continues to be unusually active in post doctoral education through regional and national conferences and symposia We recognized however that programs that bring physicians together in one location for a limited menu of lectures questions and discussion reach only a fraction of the potential audience of anesthesiologists Such programs as valuable as they are by their very structure exclude more anesthesiologists than they include
