Foreign Language Anxiety and the Advanced

Language Learner Zsuzsa Tóth, 2010-08-11. Does anxiety about learning and using a foreign language decline as learners become more competent in the target language or is anxiety also relevant at higher levels of proficiency? This is the question Foreign Language Anxiety and the Advanced Language Learner sets out to explore. The aim of the book is to give readers an insight into what role anxiety plays in the language learning and communication processes of advanced language learners. Specifically, the study examines how advanced EFL learners' foreign language anxiety (FLA) can be characterized, how anxiety relates to other individual differences (cognitive, affective, personality), and explores the relationship between FLA and various aspects of learners' performance and communication experience in the target language. The research context is Hungary. The findings, however, are not confined to the Hungarian EFL setting. In addition to making a contribution to the clarification of some unresolved issues in language anxiety research, including the role of proficiency in the development of anxiety, the relationship between anxiety and other learner variables, and the much-debated question of whether or not anxiety accounts for differential success in L2 learning, this study has important implications for language teachers as well.

Innovation in Methodology and Practice in Language Learning Christopher Williams, 2015-09-04. This volume is composed of 24 papers originally presented as talks at the VIII National Conference of the Italian Association of University Language Centres (Associazione Italiana dei Centri Linguistici Universitari AICLU) held at the University of Foggia, Italy, between 30 May and 1st June 2013. The contributions fall into five sections: 1 keynote addresses from plenary speakers; 2 innovative challenges for language centres; 3 new developments in teaching language for specific purposes; 4 proposals and case studies in Content and Language Integrated Learning; and 5 the use of new technologies in language learning. 18 papers are in English, four in Italian, one in French, and one in German. The fact that three quarters of the papers are in English reflects the way English has become the lingua franca of academic conferences today. However, in keeping with the ethos of CercleS (Confédération Européenne des Centres de Langues de l'Enseignement Supérieur), the pan-European organisation to which AICLU belongs, which is strongly committed to promoting plurilingualism, it was crucial that contributions would also be accepted in other languages. The volume represents the state of the art in the field of language teaching and theory in university language centres, not only in Italy but also in other parts of Europe and the Mediterranean, and testifies to the rich variety of ways in which these centres are adapting and thriving in rapidly changing times.
