Learning Objectives

- Determine if a variable is nominal, ordinal, interval, or ratio
 - Definition: variable is anything that is observed/measured in a clinical experiment
 - Nominal: categories in no particular order, ex. Race, gender
 - Ordinal: categories in order, but the distances between values are not equal, ex. Stages of cancer
 - Interval: continuous data, equal distances between values, but zero point is arbitrary, ex. temperature
 - Ratio: continuous data, equal distances between values, but zero is a true zero (most common number-based value), ex. Height, weight
- Recognize dichotomous and continuous endpoints
 - Dichotomous endpoints: nominal data with only 2 options – reported as n (%)
 - Continuous endpoints: usually reported as mean $\pm$ standard deviation (or median $\pm$ interquartile range)
- Given a mean and SD of a normally distributed sample, calculate the range that 95% of the data points lie between
 - Measures of dispersion: how closely data cluster around the measure of central tendency
 - Interquartile range: difference between 25th and 75th percentiles
 - Advantage = not affected by outliers
 - Standard deviation: estimates data variability by the scatter of data points about the sample mean
 - Mean $\pm$ 2 SDs = range of values that 95% of the data points lie between
- Interpret a p value, with respect to the alpha of the study and risk of type I error
 - Type I error: false positive (false statistically significant difference)
 - Alpha: the acceptable probability that the difference seen between the experimental and control groups is due to chance alone, (usually 0.05 or 5%)
 - P value: the actual probability that difference seen in experimental and control groups is due to chance alone - after data are collected
- Given clinical study results, identify statistically significant differences between groups
 - If the p value is $<$ alpha, the difference seen is statistically significant (or not due to chance alone)
- Explain how various factors affect the power of a study
 - Sample size increases, power increases
 - Study duration increases, power increase

The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is an exceptional and thrilling novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
