AIChE Symposium Series ,1983 Computer Modeling in Bioengineering Miloš Kojić,Nenad Filipović,Boban Stojanović,Nikola Kojić,2008-09-15 Bioengineering is a broad based engineering discipline that applies engineering principles and design to challenges in human health and medicine dealing with bio molecular and molecular processes product design sustainability and analysis of biological systems Applications that benefit from bioengineering include medical devices diagnostic equipment and biocompatible materials amongst others Computer Modeling in Bioengineering offers a comprehensive reference for a large number of bioengineering topics presenting important computer modeling problems and solutions for research and medical practice Starting with basic theory and fundamentals the book progresses to more advanced methods and applications allowing the reader to become familiar with different topics to the desired extent It includes unique and original topics alongside classical computational modeling methods and each application is structured to explain the physiological background phenomena that are to be modeled the computational methods used in the model and solutions of typical cases The accompanying software contains over 80 examples enabling the reader to study a topic using the theory and examples then run the software to solve the same or similar examples varying the model parameters within a given range in order to investigate the problem at greater depth Tutorials also guide the user in further exploring the modeled problem these features promote easier learning and will help lecturers with presentations Computer Modeling in Bioengineering includes computational methods for modelling bones tissues muscles cardiovascular components cartilage cells and cancer nanotechnology as well as many other applications It bridges the gap between engineering biology and medicine and will appeal not only to bioengineering students lecturers and researchers but also medical students and clinical researchers Sonochemical Engineering H. Scott Fogler,1971 Separation and Purification Technologies in Biorefineries Shri Ramaswamy,Hua-Jiang Huang,Bandaru V. Ramarao,2013-02-04 Separation and purification processes play a critical role in biorefineries and their optimal selection design and operation to maximise product yields and improve overall process efficiency Separations and purifications are necessary for upstream processes as well as in maximising and improving product recovery in downstream processes These processes account for a significant fraction of the total capital and operating costs and also are highly energy intensive Consequently a better understanding of separation and purification processes current and possible alternative and novel advanced methods is essential for achieving the overall techno economic feasibility and commercial success of sustainable biorefineries This book presents a comprehensive overview focused specifically on the present state future challenges and opportunities for separation and purification methods and technologies in biorefineries Topics covered include Equilibrium Separations Distillation liquid liquid extraction and supercritical fluid extraction Affinity Based Separations Adsorption ion exchange and simulated moving bed technologies Membrane Based Separations Microfiltration ultrafiltration and diafiltration nanofiltration membrane pervaporation and membrane distillation Solid liquid Separations Conventional filtration and solid liquid extraction Hybrid Integrated Reaction Separation Systems Membrane bioreactors extractive fermentation reactive distillation and reactive absorption For each of these processes the fundamental principles and design aspects are presented followed by a detailed discussion and specific examples of applications in biorefineries Each chapter also considers the market needs industrial challenges future opportunities and economic importance of the separation and purification methods The book concludes with a series of detailed case studies including cellulosic bioethanol production extraction of algae oil from microalgae and production of biopolymers Separation and Purification Technologies in Biorefineries is an essential resource for scientists and engineers as well as researchers and academics working in the broader conventional and emerging bio based products industry including biomaterials biochemicals biofuels and bioenergy Compendium of Training for General Intelligence Career Development Program (ICDP) Personnel United States.
