Gender, Sport and Development in Africa Jimoh Shehu, 2010 Drawing on various theories and cross cultural data the contributors to this volume highlight the various ways in which sport norms policies practices and representations pervasively interface with gender and other socially constructed categories of difference They argue that sport is not only a site of competition and physical recreation but also a crossroad where features of modern society such as hegemony identities democracy technology development and master statuses intertwine and bifurcate As they point out in many ways sport production reproduction distribution and consumption are relational spatial and contextual and therefore do not pay off for men women and other social groups equally The authors draw attention to the structure and scope of efforts needed to transform the exclusionary and gendered nature of sport processes to make them adequate to the task of engendering Africa's development

Gender and Peacebuilding Maureen P. Flaherty, Thomas G. Matyók, Sean Byrne, Hamdesa Tusso, 2015-10-16 The twenty first century has brought with it a shift from the notion of human security being located in secure national borders to the need to secure the safety freedom and dignity of all Despite efforts to equalize women's status in the world evidenced by changes in many international projects requiring a gender focus women and men experience most of the world in very different ways according to gender Further the reality is that humans who do not all fall neatly into one of these categories male or female often find their lives further challenged In the 1980s Peace and Conflict Studies first began to acknowledge and study the different experiences males and females have during war and peace Since then there have been books about women and war women working at grassroots levels to build peace women and transitional justice women and peace education and women s views of human security All of these works have contributed to the discourse of our changing world This book brings together some of those themes and voices and adds more with the final product being more than the sum of its parts We add to the conversation a book that considers foundational fundamental issues that span from the interpersonal to the global Many of the chapters describe empirical research completed with author and community shared here for the first time Part One is a collection of case studies documenting challenges and responses to peacebuilding by women from various parts of the world Part Two focuses on Peace and Conflict Studies PACS as a discipline examining not only what is but also what should be taught This section critiques today s efforts at teaching Peace and Conflict Studies and provides suggestions of how this important work might be shared in more open and equitable ways Part Three enters territory found even less in the PACS literature In this section our authors confront patriarchy engage in a discussion about the contribution queer theory makes to PACS and tussle with the notion of inclusivity with considerations of both gender and disability It then ends with a discussion about the contribution feminist methodologies make to PACS

Decolonizing African History Toyin Falola, 2024-01-01 Decolonizing African history involves efforts toward ending European intellectual hegemony over Africa s

political economic historical and cultural ways the reverse of its effects and the pursuit of absolute liberation and self determination for Africa As an intellectual undertaking decolonizing African history emphasizes the study of African history from an African perspective as well as the transmission of that knowledge through Africanized curricula instructional frameworks and epistemologies The acknowledgment of marginalized peoples or groups as agents of their own histories and experiences is a critical component in decolonizing African history Decolonizing African history is based on the premise that Africa must look inside and apply an alternative multidisciplinary approach to developing ideas for solutions to Africa s developmental problems drawing inspiration from its own culture history and creative imaginations Essentially African intellectuals must apply local theories and approaches to understand African problems solve them and challenge the status quo s beliefs and practices of a distorted African image The overall goal of this lecture is to liberate African knowledge as well as the adoption and adaptation of traditional African modes of knowing and knowledge creation Hence the lecture attempts to awaken Africans to set the records right in terms of African history and unlock Africa s hitherto suppressed immense potentials It conveys the essence of decolonization in African history its origins and nature reasons methods goals and expected outcomes It also argues for the development of an indigenous knowledge based system in sync with African realities and capable of carving out autonomous models to alleviate Africa s political economic sociocultural and innovative leadership overdependence on the developed world Finally it submits that if African societies can be shown to be on par with other major societies throughout the world there is no reason they should not be able to control their own destiny It rekindles the belief that Africans will be proud of their identities one day having freed themselves and their past from crippling colonial notions

Being and Becoming Ukpokolo, Chinyere, 2016-02-27 This book illuminates the complex and constantly shifting social and cultural dynamics that shape people s identity Specifically the volume focuses on the intersections of gender with culture and identity and at different historical epochs on the way men and women define themselves and are defined by diverse peoples and cultures across time and space in sub Saharan Africa The discussions presented in this anthology primarily focus on being as a state or condition defined by sex identity and how this identity shifts and hence becoming assuming diverse meanings in disparate societies contexts and time The discourse therefore moves from how the perception of the self in cultural and historical contexts has informed actions and at some other times shaped interpretations given to historical facts to how changing economic realities also shape the definitions and constructions of social and relational issues in Sub Saharan Africa The historical trajectories of Islamic religion colonialism and Christian missionary activities in sub Saharan Africa have shaped the worlds of the peoples of the region and impacted on gender relations
