Self-Cultivation in Chinese and Greco-Roman Philosophy David Machek, 2025-05-15 In early China and ancient Greece self cultivation was considered crucial for leading a flourishing fulfilled life In this cross cultural study David Machek presents and interprets six influential Greek and Chinese self cultivation theories advocated by Mengzi Zhuangzi and Xunzi as well as Plato Aristotle and the Stoics in order to put forward the overarching narrative that self cultivation amounts to strengthening the best part of the human self the heart in the Chinese context and the mind in the Greek context Advancing new readings of classic texts Machek shows that Greek approaches to self cultivation privilege intellectual pursuits while Chinese approaches give more weight to non intellectual activities such as learning manual crafts and performing rituals He also demonstrates how both ancient traditions understand the self as a heterogeneous community of organic entities each needing different provisions to flourish which aligns the ancient Greek view closer to the early Chinese view As such this book reinforces the underlying structural and conceptual similarities between the two traditions and makes an important contribution to diversifying philosophical conversations

The Sentences of Sextus and the Origins of Christian Asceticism Daniele Pevarello, 2013-11-19 Daniele Pevarello analyzes the Sentences of Sextus a second century collection of Greek aphorisms compiled by Sextus an otherwise unknown Christian author The specific character of Sextus collection lies in the fact that the Sentences are a Christian rewriting of Hellenistic sayings some of which are still preserved in pagan gnomologies and in Porphyry Pevarello investigates the problem of continuity and discontinuity between the ascetic tendencies of the Christian compiler and aphorisms promoting self control in his pagan sources In particular he shows how some aspects of the Stoic Cynic Platonic and Pythagorean moral traditions such as sexual restraint voluntary poverty the practice of silence and of a secluded life were creatively combined with Sextus ascetic agenda against the background of the biblical tradition Drawing on this adoption of Hellenistic moral traditions Pevarello shows how great a part the moral tradition of Greek paideia played in the shaping and development of self restraint among early Christian ascetics
