An Introduction To Coastal Geomorphology Hodder Arnold Publication:

An Introduction to Coastal Geomorphology John Pethick, 1995-03-22 This is an introduction to wave and tidally dominated landforms including beaches cliffs dunes estuaries mudflats and salt marshes Working from basic principles the author discusses the physical mechanisms by which this wide variety of landforms is produced and maintained

Introduction to Coastal Processes and Geomorphology Gerhard Masselink, Michael G. Hughes, 2003 Coastal environments are arguably the most important and intensely used of all areas settled by humans The coastline changes not only over the centuries or decades but in a matter of hours and minutes This rapid development applies both to the form of the coastline and to coastal processes This new book is an introduction to the environments and processes that occur along the world's coastline The coastlines of the world provide natural laboratories for investigating the physical chemical and biological processes that produce the rich diversity of coastal landforms Introduction to Coastal Processes and Geomorphology begins by addressing generic concepts global issues and processes that are common to most coastal environments including the morphodynamic paradigm Quaternary sea level fluctuations tides waves and sediment transport processes Later chapters address the morphodynamics of the five main types of coastal environments namely fluvial tide and wave dominated environments rocky coasts and coral reefs and islands The final chapter considers the issue of coastal management and in particular the management of coastal erosion This comprehensive and in depth book is an essential reference handbook for students looking to extend their analytical skills and interest in coastal morphodynamics Fully illustrated throughout each chapter contains boxed sections designed to aid further study by providing either a further analysis or treatment of a particular issue an interesting application of a principle just discussed in the body of the text or a virtual field trip

COASTAL GEOMORPHOLOGY A Perspective study of Beach Dune Systems and Tidal inlets of Dahanu Coast, Maharashtra Dr Sunil Yeshwant Kelkar, Dr. Mohan Rajaram Vaishampayan, 2019-08 The coast is a dynamic geomorphological system Studying the coast as a system provides a framework within which interactions between many features and complex processes can be considered and expressed A system is a state at any time defined by its variables Woodroffe 2002 Morphology is very appropriate measure of the state of a coastal system Accretion and erosion are the morphological states of a beach The terms like summer beach profile and winter beach profile King 1972 or reflective and dissipative beaches are also used to describe these states Thus the beach system can be described in terms of such morphological states Beach slope length volumes are the quantitative variables of beach systems Introduction to

Coastal Processes and Geomorphology Gerd Masselink, 2014-04-04 The world's coastlines represent a myriad of dynamic and constantly changing environments Heavily settled and intensely used areas they are of enormous importance to humans and understanding how they are shaped and change is crucial to our future Introduction to Coastal Processes and Geomorphology begins by discussing coastal systems and shows how these systems link to the processes examined in detail throughout the book These include the morphodynamic paradigm tides waves and sediment transport Later chapters explore fluvial deltas estuaries beaches and barriers coastal sand dunes and geologically influenced coasts such as cliffs coral reefs and atolls A new chapter addresses the forward facing aspect of coastal morphodynamics including the ways in which coasts respond to rapid climate changes such as present day global warming Also new to this second edition is a chapter on future coasts which considers the wider effects of coastal change on other important aspects of coastal systems including ecology management socio cultural activities built and natural heritage and archaeology Case studies using examples from around the world illustrate theory in practice and bring the subject to life Each chapter starts by outlining the aims and questions at the end allow you to track your progress This book is accompanied by additional resources online at www.hodderplus.com geography including Answers to the questions available to download as MP3 files Expanded case studies with colour photos links to relevant websites and a map link to pinpoint the case study location Interactive multiple choice questions and worked examples The ebook edition is in VitalBook™ Bookshelf an ebook reader which allows you to download the ebook to your computer or access it anywhere with an internet browser search the full text of all of the ebooks that you hold on your bookshelf for instant access to the information you need make and share notes and highlights on your ebooks copy and print text and figures customize your view by changing font size and layout
