French Thought and Literary Theory in the UK Irving Goh, 2019-10-21 This collection presents a sort of counter history or counter genealogy of the globalization of French thought from the point of view of scholars working in the UK While the dominating discourse would attribute the US as the source of that globalization particularly through the 1966 conference on the Languages of Criticism and the Sciences of Man at Johns Hopkins University this volume of essays serves as a reminder that the UK has also been a principal motor of that globalization The essays take into account how French thought and literary theory have institutionally taken shape in the UK from the 70s to today highlight aspects of French thought that have been of particular pertinence or importance for scholars there and outline how researchers in the UK today are bringing French thought further in terms of teaching and research in this twenty first century In short this volume traces how the country has been behind the reception and development of French thought in Anglophone worlds from the late 70s to the present

The Power of Tautology Allen Thiher, 1997 Historicism occupies a central position in recent developments of literary theory exemplified by Heidegger and Foucault They are respectively right and left wing examples of the desire to define whatever occurs in history as a product of history Heidegger and Foucault also represent versions of the widespread belief that history should be viewed as a form of conspiracy Another example studied is the structuralism that has developed from Saussure through Roland Barthes Structuralism has defined all products of the human mind to be systems that can be reduced to the system of language
