Atmospheric and Space Flight Dynamics Ashish Tewari, 2007-11-15 Modern aerospace vehicles such as the space shuttle other launch vehicles and long range ballistic missiles do not discriminate between atmospheric and space flight Most texts on flight dynamics however make this artificial distinction and therefore do not simultaneously cover aircraft and spacecraft Bridging this gap in the literature Atmospheric and Space Flight Dynamics is a unified presentation demonstrating that the two disciplines have actually evolved from the same set of physical principles Key features include an introduction to a broad range of modern topics in an accessible yet mathematically rigorous presentation many numerical examples and simulations utilizing MATLAB and Simulink software used as an instructional hands on tool moving away from the cookbook approach found in other works and numerous illustrations and end of chapter exercises Primarily useful as a textbook for advanced undergraduate and beginning graduate level students the work is also an excellent reference or self study guide for researchers and practitioners in aerospace engineering aviation mechanical engineering dynamics astrodynamics aeronautics and astronautics

Automatic Control of Atmospheric and Space Flight Vehicles Ashish Tewari, 2011-08-04 Automatic Control of Atmospheric and Space Flight Vehicles is perhaps the first book on the market to present a unified and straightforward study of the design and analysis of automatic control systems for both atmospheric and space flight vehicles Covering basic control theory and design concepts it is meant as a textbook for senior undergraduate and graduate students in modern courses on flight control systems In addition to the basics of flight control this book covers a number of upper level topics and will therefore be of interest not only to advanced students but also to researchers and practitioners in aeronautical engineering applied mathematics and Computational Space Flight Mechanics Claus Weiland, 2010-06-29 The mechanics of space flight is an old discipline. Its topic originally was the motion of planets, moons, and other celestial bodies in gravitational fields. Kepler's 1571-1630 observations and measurements have led to probably the first mathematical description of planet's motion. Newton 1642-1727 gave then with the development of his principles of mechanics the physical explanation of these motions. Since then man has started in the second half of the 20th century to capture physically the Space in the sense that he did develop artificial celestial bodies which he brought into Earth's orbits like satellites or space stations or which he did send to planets or moons of our planetary system like probes or by which people were brought to the moon and back like capsules. Further he developed an advanced space transportation system the U.S. Space Shuttle Orbiter which is the only winged space vehicle ever in operation. In the last two and a half decades there were several activities in the world in order to succeed the U.S. Orbiter like the HERMES project in Europe, the HOPE project in Japan, the X-33, X-34, and X-37 studies and demonstrators in the United States, and the joint U.S./European project X-38. However, all these projects were cancelled. The motion of these vehicles can be described by Newton's equation of motion.

Flight Dynamics and Control of Aero and Space Vehicles Rama K. Yedavalli, 2019-11-01. Flight Vehicle Dynamics and Control Rama K. Yedavalli, The Ohio State University, USA. A comprehensive textbook which presents flight vehicle dynamics and control in a unified framework. Flight Vehicle Dynamics and Control presents the dynamics and control of various flight vehicles including aircraft, spacecraft, helicopter, missiles, etc. in a unified framework. It covers the fundamental topics in the dynamics and control of these flight vehicles, highlighting shared points as well as differences in dynamics and control issues, making use of the systems level viewpoint. The book begins with the derivation of the equations of motion for a general rigid body and then delineates the differences between the dynamics of various flight vehicles in a fundamental way. It then focuses on the dynamic equations with application to these various flight vehicles, concentrating more on aircraft and spacecraft cases. Then the control systems analysis and design is carried out both from transfer function/classical control as well as modern state space control points of view. Illustrative examples of application to atmospheric and space vehicles are presented, emphasizing the systems level viewpoint of control design. Key features: Provides a comprehensive treatment of dynamics and control of various flight vehicles in a single volume. Contains worked-out examples including MATLAB examples and end-of-chapter homework problems. Suitable as a single textbook for a sequence of undergraduate courses on flight vehicle dynamics and control. The book is essential reading for undergraduate students in mechanical and aerospace engineering, engineers working on flight vehicle control, and researchers from other engineering backgrounds working on related topics.
