Affect Theory and Literary Critical Practice Stephen Ahern,2018-12-31 Affect Theory and Literary Critical Practice develops new approaches to reading literature that are informed by the insights of scholars working in affect studies across many disciplines with essays that consider works of fiction drama poetry and memoir ranging from the medieval to the postmodern While building readings of representative texts contributors reflect on the value of affect theory to literary critical practice asking what explanatory power is affect theory affording me here as a critic what can the insights of the theory help me do with a text Contributors work to incorporate lines of theory not always read together accounting for the affective intensities that circulate through texts and readers and tracing the operations of affectively charged social scripts Drawing variously on queer feminist and critical race theory and informed by ecocritical and new materialist sensibilities essays in the volume share a critical practice founded in an ethics of relation and contribute to an emerging postcritical moment

The Writer's Eye Amy E. Weldon, 2018-07-12 Learning to write starts with learning to do one big thing pay attention to the world around you even though just about everything in modern life makes this more difficult than it needs to be Developing habits and practices of observing and writing down what you notice can be the first step away from the anxieties and doubts that can hold you back from your ultimate goal as a writer discovering something to say and a voice to say it in The Writer's Eye is an inspiring guide for writers at all stages of their writing lives Drawing on new research into creative writers and their relationship with the physical world Amy E Weldon shows us how to become more attentive observers of the world and find inspiration in any environment Including exercises writing prompts and sample texts and spanning multiple genres from novels to nonfiction to poetry this is the ideal starting point for anyone beginning to write seriously and offers refreshing perspectives for experienced writers seeking new inspiration

Discrepant Solace David James, 2019-05-23 Consolation has always played an uncomfortable part in the literary history of loss But in recent decades its affective meanings and ethical implications have been recast by narratives that appear at first sight to foil solace altogether Illuminating this striking archive Discrepant Solace considers writers who engage with consolation not as an aesthetic salve but as an enduring problematic one that unravels at the centre of emotionally challenging works of late twentieth and twenty first century fiction and life writing The book understands solace as a generative yet conflicted aspect of style where microelements of diction rhythm and syntax capture consolation's alternating desirability and contestation With a wide angle lens on the contemporary scene David James examines writers who are rarely considered in conversation including Sonali Deraniyagala Colson Whitehead Cormac McCarthy W G Sebald Doris Lessing Joan Didion J M Coetzee Marilynne Robinson Julian Barnes Helen Macdonald Ian McEwan Colm Tóibín Kazuo Ishiguro Denise Riley and David Grossman These figures overturn critical suppositions about consolation's kinship with ideological complaisance superficial mitigation or dubious distraction producing unsettling perceptions of solace that shape the formal and political contours of their writing Through intimate readings of novels and memoirs that explore seemingly indescribable experiences of grief trauma remorse and dread James demonstrates how they turn consolation into a condition of expressional possibility without ever promising us relief He also supplies vital traction to current conversations about the stakes of thinking with contemporary writing to scrutinize affirmative structures of feeling revealing unexpected common ground between the operations of literary consolation and the urgencies of cultural critique Discrepant Solace makes the close reading of emotion crucial to understanding the work literature does in our precarious present      Signal Failure Tom Jeffreys, 2017-04-13 One November morning Tom Jeffreys set off from Euston Station with a gnarled old walking stick in his hand and an overloaded rucksack His aim was to walk the 119 miles from London to Birmingham along the proposed route of HS2 Needless to say he failed Over the course of ten days of walking Jeffreys meets conservationists and museum directors fiery farmers and suicidal retirees From a rapidly changing London through interminable suburbia and out into the English countryside Jeffreys goes wild camping in Perivale flees murderous horses in Oxfordshire and gets lost in a landfill site in Buckinghamshire Signal Failure weaves together poetry and politics history philosophy and personal observation to form an extended exploration of people and place nature society and the future In part Signal Failure is the story of the author's multiple shortcomings his inability to understand the city he lives in to forge a meaningful relationship with his home county hometown to emulate those great nature writers he admires so much to put up a tent or read a map It is also a wide ranging critique of humanity's most urgent failures of capitalism of community of the city and the suburbs of architecture and agriculture of bureaucratic democracy and in the end of our age old failure to find our place in the world we live in      In Search of the Good Society Malcolm McIntosh, 2017-11-09 Compelling reading this book both reinforces and elevates the role of art in the exploration and analysis of the concepts of democracy globalization and capitalism In the book the author describes a post human world a state we have already entered But how should we think about it given we have already been co-opted Can we articulate the future outside the false discipline that the market often dictates beyond the clutches of a few social media companies and maintain our rich diversities while holding on to those things that make life possible and worthwhile love hope and art Running throughout the book is the central theme of uncertainty and divergence It is uncompromising in asking the question about the need for a new global creation story which has at its core not the certainties of one defined creation myth but the need to feel comfortable with the uncertainty principle both in physics and the political economy It is up to artists scientists and philosophers to articulate this wonder and to help us write a new global creation story based on art the arts uncertainty diversity risk and wonder and of course knowledge This book has the capacity to both clarify and re-shape your thinking
