

A MODEST PROPOSAL

TONE AND IRONY

Point of view:
"This number of souls in this Kingdom being usually reckoned one million and a half, it must necessarily follow that the least two hundred thousand couple should either be bred or sold."

Context:
The year 1726, eighteenth-century satirists in Britain (human beings – especially children – as if they were livestock or machines).

HISTORICAL CONTEXT

- Britain in 1726 during a time of intense poverty and famine in Ireland.
- British landlords and their wealthy upper class living off their tenants' property in England's dependent Ireland's land and resources.
- The Catholic Irish majority suffered under harsh political and economic conditions, with little help from the British government.
- References of the time often suggested that children "were" or "became" animal products – criticism against the British authority.

UNDERSTATEMENT

Point of view:
"These pigs might be made into extremely good food; they would be a good use of the children's bodies for gentlemen."

Context:
The suggestion is presented in a calm, off-hand way, as though it were a practical solution to the problem of a government with no resources. The irony is in the fact that the speaker is a British official, a member of the ruling class, who is making such a suggestion.
