SOLUTIONS

A. Exercises

18d. $\emptyset$ is a set and not an element of this given set.

19. $\emptyset$ is a subset of itself, but it is not a proper subset of itself.

B. Exercises

continued in Answers and Solutions Overflow

Explain the order of set operations and work through Example 4 and the shading of the Venn diagrams. Some students may benefit from adding the sets' elements to the Venn diagram and a demonstration of intermediate shadings of R' and S in Example 4a.

Interactive Activity Use the Internet keyword search Venn diagram applet for an interactive applet.

Exercises 50–51 introduce the countability of sets. German mathematician Georg Cantor, the founder of set theory, is featured in the first math history activity in the Teacher's Toolkit (TTK) CD: Activities.

TIPS

Ex. 30 Consider guiding students into discovering a shorter way to write this answer using a complement.

Ex. 41 D is a set and not an element.

Ex. 43 The resulting sets are equal.

Ex. 49 This exercise is fairly simple if students are content to state the solution as the union of three sets. Since the shaded regions are disjoint, the expression cannot be shortened.

Ex. 51 Consider explaining that the rational numbers and the irrational numbers are not equivalent sets. The concept of equal and unequal sizes of infinity is something that our finite minds struggle with. Encourage students to research this idea further.
