Education, Authority, and the Critical Citizen Neil Wilcock, 2023-08-24 This book offers a unique analysis of the tension between the individual and society in educational contexts and the role that citizenship and democratic education can play It approaches the question from two different perspectives the institutional and the interactional and argues that any solution must answer the tension from both or it will necessarily fail The answer is found through a political methodology that places education at the centre and concludes that a balance can be found if we embrace the federated disestablishment of education and state and internally democratic schooling that aims to realise the emancipation of the political child The book situates itself in the tradition of political philosophy that is education focused identifying an unresolved tension between the individual and society in the works of Rousseau Dewey and Freire It discusses the concept of authority as a primary issue persisting in this tension It does so by exploring both interactional and institutional responses based on the idea of the free individual and cooperative associations The author advocates an education system that creates the necessary space for the cultivation of the free individual and is run by the principles of internally democratic schooling With a strong focus on citizenship and the role of education in the development of social justice oriented citizens this book will be of great interest to researchers academics and postgraduate students in the fields of philosophy of education political philosophy educational theory and citizenship education

Richmann,2024-08-27 This book asserts that authority is a contested category and explores why traditional notions of authority are increasingly in tension with progressive and postmodern claims devolving into stalemate schizophrenia or power plays Offering a Christian framework as a philosophically coherent and practical alternative for teachers the author argues that Jesus provides a pattern from which to reconstruct our conception of teaching authority in ways that align with evidence informed teaching practices and cultivate intellectual virtues Rather than examine Jesus as teacher the book instead applies the central insight on authority that Jesus embodies This authority with which Jesus taught it argues stemmed from his passion that is passive even suffering experience The author aligns this to a subject centered conception of teaching as opposed to student centered or teacher centered in which the subject is the authority and knowing is identified with being acted upon by the subject Teaching with authority thereby becomes a matter of unveiling suffering with students and inviting them into their own suffering encounter with the subject Building on the work on Parker Palmer and exploring pedagogical practice from a Christian perspective this book will appeal to scholars and researchers with interests in higher education evidence based teaching educational theory religion and education and Christian history and thought Who's Afraid of
