Authorship And Film1:

Authorship in Film Adaptation Jack Boozer, 2009-06-03 Authoring a film adaptation of a literary source not only requires a media conversion but also a transformation as a result of the differing dramatic demands of cinema. The most critical central step in this transformation of a literary source to the screen is the writing of the screenplay. The screenplay usually serves to recruit producers, director and actors to attract capital investment and to give focus to the conception and production of the film project. Often undergoing multiple revisions prior to production, the screenplay represents the crucial decisions of writer and director that will determine how and to what end the film will imitate or depart from its original source. Authorship in Film Adaptation is an accessible provocative text that opens up new areas of discussion on the central process of adaptation surrounding the screenplay and screenwriter-director collaboration. In contrast to narrow binary comparisons of literary source text and film, the twelve essays in this collection also give attention to the underappreciated role of the screenplay and film pre-production that can signal the primary intention for a film. Divided into four parts, this collection looks first at the role of Hollywood's activist producers and major auteurs such as Hitchcock and Kubrick as they worked with screenwriters to formulate their audio-visual goals. The second part offers case studies of Devil in a Blue Dress and The Sweet Hereafter for which the directors wrote their own adapted screenplays. Considering the variety of writer-director working relationships that are possible, Part III focuses on adaptations that alter genre, time and place, and Part IV investigates adaptations that alter stories of romance, sexuality and ethnicity. Robert Altman's Soundtracks Gayle Sherwood Magee, 2014-10-01 Robert Altman's Soundtracks offers a compelling new look at this celebrated director's films through his innovative uses of music and sound. As author Gayle Sherwood Magee illustrates, Altman's considerable and varied output speaks to the changing film industry over decades from Nashville (1975) to A Prairie Home Companion (2006).

The Cinema of Agnès Varda Delphine Benezet, 2014-04-14 Agnès Varda, a pioneer of the French New Wave, has been making radical films for over half a century. Many of these are considered by scholars, filmmakers and audiences alike as audacious, seminal and unforgettable. This volume considers her production as a whole, revisiting overlooked films like Mur Murs, Documenteur (1980-81) and connecting her cinema to recent installation work. This study demonstrates how Varda has resisted norms of representation and dictats of production. It also shows how she has elaborated a personal repertoire of images, characters and settings which all provide insight on their cultural and political contexts. The book thus offers new readings of this director's multifaceted r varies, arguing that her work should be seen as an aesthetically influential and ethically driven production where cinema is both a political and collaborative practice and a synesthetic art form.

Adaptations Deborah Cartmell, Imelda Whelehan, 2022 Adaptations: Critical and Primary Sources is a three-volume reference resource that brings together over 80 landmark texts in adaptation studies. Volume One covers the history of adaptation studies by plotting the prehistory of the field, beginning with Vachel Lindsay's classic Art of the Moving Picture.

1915 through Virginia Woolf's classic essay on 'The Cinema' through to some of the most important critical and theoretical interventions up until the 1990s when the area really emerges as a critical force in the academy. Volume Two collects essays from the last 25 years showing how the scholarly legacy laid out in Volume One still has a profound impact on adaptation studies today while charting the process of critical and theoretical maturation. This volume shows how adaptations studies has outgrown its contested place in the gap of film and literary studies and how its interventions transcend disciplinary perspectives across the arts and humanities. Volume Three covers key case studies such as Christine Geraghty's take on adapting Westerns, Ian Inglis' understanding of the transformation of music into movies and Eckart Voigts' concept on Jane Austen and participatory culture. With topics ranging from the limitations of the novel to adapting stage to screen, contributions from a wide range of international scholars, film critics and novelists combine to make Adaptations: Critical and Primary Sources an original overview of critical debates today. Cartmell and Whelehan introduce each excerpt and offer a critical overview of the collected work, the rationale for its inclusion and suggestions for further reading.

The Marvel Studios Phenomenon Martin Flanagan, Andrew Livingstone, Mike McKenny, 2017-12-28. Marvel Studios has provided some of the biggest worldwide cinematic hits of the last eight years from Iron Man (2008) to the record-breaking The Avengers (2012) and beyond. Having announced plans to extend its production of connected texts in cinema, network and online television until at least 2028, the new aesthetic patterns brought about by Marvel's shared media universe demand analysis and understanding. The Marvel Studios Phenomenon evaluates the studio's identity as well as its status within the structures of parent Disney. In a new set of readings of key texts such as Captain America: The Winter Soldier, Guardians of the Galaxy and Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D., the thematics of superhero fiction and the role of fandom are considered. The authors identify milestones from Marvel's complex and controversial business history, allowing us to appraise its industrial status from a comic publisher keen to exploit its intellectual property to an independent producer to a successful subsidiary of a vast entertainment empire.

The Role of Authorship during the Shift towards a New Hollywood Andreas Schwarz, 2012-01-10. Bachelor Thesis from the year 2011 in the subject American Studies / Culture and Applied Geography, grade 1.3. Free University of Berlin, John F. Kennedy Institut, language: English, abstract: In film studies, the term New Hollywood is used in non-conclusive and heterogeneous ways. The discourse does not make explicit what the real New was. However, there appears to be a general consensus as to the actual time frame in which a bigger change happened in Hollywood that stirred up the system, starting in 1967. Scholars have been trying to explain the proclaimed change of the Classical Hollywood Cinema from different perspectives, which, depending on author and release date, point out economical, production-related, societal or creative/aesthetic revolutions as responsible factors. Coming from the film critic's angle towards New Hollywood, the most important factor in the process was the development and success of the American auteur. The auteur theory has been appointed as such by film critic Andrew Sarris, who based his assumptions mainly on the theoretical conclusions drawn by the writers of the French Cahiers du Cinema Taking the auteur approach to explain aspects of the New Hollywood some scholars pinpoint the era down to the years of 1967 1976 This national cinematography is hardly discussed consensually within its own historiographical discourse or the boundaries of text analysis I want to specifically trace the role of the idea of an auteur cinema within the Hollywood industry during this change and thereby further disentangle the complex relationship of commerce and authorship My first chapter will therefore be employed with the theoretical background and the discourse around authorship in general film in particular Eventually this will lead to a clear idea about the specifics and limitations of the auteur theory discourse The second chapter will then be occupied with the historical change of the Hollywood system in the sixties and seventies of the twentieth century and will aim to define the contributing factors for this change within and outside the industry In terms of terminology a historiographical approach will determine the rather different meanings of New Hollywood and Hollywood Renaissance Chapter three will tie up the loose ends of both previous chapters striving to identify what kind of influence on film production the auteurs of New Hollywood had in terms of the reinvigorated success of the American film industry or if they were auteurs at all for that matter What room is there in a system which is based on its own myths of star power etc for the serious artistic vision of the individual

The Documentary B. Smaill, 2009-11-30 Belinda Smaill proposes an original approach to documentary studies examining how emotions such as pleasure hope pain empathy nostalgia or disgust are integral both to the representation of selfhood in documentary and to the way documentaries circulate in the public sphere Why The Monkees Matter Rosanne Welch, 2016-07-19 A hit television show about a fictitious rock band The Monkees 1966 1968 earned two Emmys Outstanding Comedy Series and Outstanding Directorial Achievement in Comedy Capitalizing on the show's success the actual band formed by the actors at their peak sold more albums than The Beatles and The Rolling Stones combined and set the stage for other musical TV characters from The Partridge Family to Hannah Montana In the late 1980s the Monkees began a series of reunion tours that continued into their 50th anniversary This book tells the story of The Monkees and how the show changed television introducing a new generation to the fourth wall breaking slapstick created by Laurel and Hardy and the Marx Brothers Its creators contributed to the innovative film and television of 1970s with projects like Bob Carol Ted Alice The Mary Tyler Moore Show Laugh In and Welcome Back Kotter Immense profits from the show its music and its merchandising funded the producers move into films such as Head Easy Rider and Five Easy Pieces Developments in the Japanese

Documentary Mode Marcos Centeno, Michael Raine, 2021-06-10 Writing on Japanese cinema has prioritized aesthetic and cultural difference and obscured Japan's contribution to the representation of real life in cinema and related forms Donald Richie who was instrumental in introducing Japanese cinema to the West even claimed that Japan did not have a true documentary tradition due to the apparent preference of Japanese audiences for stylisation over realism a preference that originated from its theatrical tradition However a closer look at the history of Japanese documentary and feature film production reveals an emphasis on actuality and everyday life as a major part of Japanese film culture That documentary mode crossing genre and medium like Peter Brooks melodramatic mode rather than limited to styles of documentary filmmaking alone identifies rhetoric of authenticity in cinema and related media even as that rhetoric was sometimes put in service to political and economic ends The articles in this Special Issue Developments in the Japanese Documentary Mode trace important changes in documentary film schools and movements from the 1930s onwards sometimes in relation to other media and the efforts of some post war filmmakers to adapt the styles and ethical commitments that underpin documentary s impression of authenticity to their representation of fictional worlds Theories of Authorship John Caughie,1981 On motion picture authorship
