Autobiographical Writing Across the Disciplines Diane P. Freedman, Olivia Frey, 2004-01-23 An anthology of the personal autobiographical essays of scholars who have made the life story an important part of their disciplinary research Queer Opera Andrew Sutherland, 2023-03-27 In Queer Opera Andrew Sutherland argues that operas often reflect characteristics of the society and epistime in which they are written but that they also do much more than that operas have agency LGBTQ social cultural and political issues have become an increasingly defining feature of twenty first century life and as agency for change composers have turned to opera to underscore the lived queer experience Sutherland posits that operas written before the sexual revolution of the mid twentieth century utilized a codified language both in the libretto and score communicating with those observers open to a queer reading He explores the growing trend of local small scale independent opera companies seen around the world towards the end of the first decade of the twenty first century and argues that this has emboldened queer artists to reclaim opera as a queer space He further argues that for several centuries opera houses have been safe havens for queer composers librettists performers and designers and yet it is only relatively recently that any serious attempt at queer representation in operatic works has begun to be realized In this book he examines narratives and music of selected operas to walk through queer history in Western societies and shines a light on how many of opera s well known characters based on historical figures who represent pivotal moments in the queer story are responsible in a variety of ways for the continued struggle for queer acceptance Psychology and Gender Dysphoria Jemma Tosh, 2016-03-02

Psychiatry and psychology have a long and highly debated history in relation to gender In particular they have attracted criticism for policing the boundaries of normal gender expression through gender identity diagnoses such as transvestism transsexualism gender identity disorder and gender dysphoria Drawing on discursive psychology this book traces the historical development of psychiatric constructions of normal and abnormal gender expression It contextualizes the recent reconstruction of gender in the 5th edition of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders DSM 5 and its criteria for gender dysphoria This latest diagnosis illustrates the continued disagreement and debate within the profession surrounding gender identity as disordered It also provides an opportunity to reflect on the conflicted history between feminist and transgender communities in the changing context of a more trans positive feminism and the implications of these diagnoses for these distinct but linked communities Psychology and Gender Dysphoria examines debates and controversies surrounding psychiatric diagnoses and theories related to gender and gender nonconformity by exploring recent research examples of collaborative perspectives and existing feminist and trans texts As such the book is relevant for postgraduate and postdoctoral researchers of gender feminism and critical psychology as well as historical issues within
