Notes: The results of the regression for each variable are displayed in parentheses. The dependent variable is measured in minutes. The results, taken all together, suggest that the more time a person spends on the Internet, the more time he or she spends on other activities.

1. Analyze customer needs (identify a problem and suggest the first solution, "What's the problem?")
2. Probe the client's needs (State assumptions that the outputs will fulfill. Probe and bring along a second (and subsequent) solution. You are now in the Propositional programming mode)
3. Probe and add new features of the knowledge and the new response with a question, i.e., including the appropriate new client's requirements.
(If you have achieved satisfaction, say it is the end of the engagement)
