Between Mecca And Beijing Modernization And Consumption Among Urban Chinese Muslims:

Between Mecca and Beijing Maris Boyd Gillette, 2000 Between Mecca and Beijing examines how a community of urban Chinese Muslims uses consumption to position its members more favorably within the Chinese government's official paradigm for development. Residents of the old Muslim district in the ancient Chinese capital of Xi'an belong to an official minority, the Hui nationality, that has been classified by the state as backward in comparison to China's majority Han population. Though these Hui urbanites like the vast majority of Chinese citizens accept the assumptions about social evolution upon which such labels are based, they actively reject the official characterization of themselves as less civilized and modern than the Han majority. By selectively consuming goods and adopting fashions they regard as modern and non-Chinese, which include commodities and styles from both the West and the Muslim world, these Chinese Muslims seek to demonstrate that they are capable of modernizing without the guidance or assistance of the state. In so doing, they challenge one of the fundamental roles the Chinese Communist government has claimed for itself: that of guide and purveyor of modernity. Through a detailed study of the daily life, eating habits, dress styles, housing, marriage, and death rituals, religious practices, education, family organization of the Hui inhabitants of Xi'an, the author explores the effects of a state-sponsored ideology of progress on an urban Chinese Muslim neighborhood.

The Consumer Revolution in Urban China Deborah Davis, 2000-01-20 This wide-ranging collection of essays by leading sociologists on the new consumerism of post-economic reform China is an important contribution to our understanding of Chinese society and culture.

Chinese Muslims and the Global Ummah Alexander Stewart, 2016-07-01 The global spread of Islamic movements and the ascendancy of a Chinese state that limits religious freedom have aroused anxieties about integrating Islam and protecting religious freedom around the world. Focusing on violent movements like the so-called Islamic State and Uyghur separatists in China's Xinjiang Province, threatens to drown out the alternatives presented by apolitical and inwardly focused manifestations of transnational Islamic revival popular among groups like the Hui, China's largest Muslim minority. This book explores how Muslim revivalists in China's Qinghai Province employ individual agency to reconcile transnational notions of religious orthodoxy with the materialist rationalism of atheist China. Based on a year immersed in one of China's most concentrated and conservative urban Muslim communities in Xining, the book puts individuals' struggles to navigate theological controversies in the contexts of global Islamic revival and Chinese modernization. By doing so, it reveals how attempts to revive the original essence of Islam can empower individuals to form peaceful and productive articulations with secular societies and further suggests means of combatting radicalization and encouraging interfaith dialogue. As the first major research monograph on Islamic revival in modern China, this book will be of interest to students and scholars of Anthropology, Islamic Studies, and Chinese Studies.

Ethnic Identity and National Conflict in China A. Acharya, R. Gunaratna, W. Pengxin, 2010-06-21 While not discounting the potency of the radical Islamic religious discourse in fuelling the contemporary wave of terrorism, this book makes an attempt to explain terrorism in China as an ethno nationalist conflict rooted in issues involving minority identity. However, a largely domestic conflict is being hijacked by the radical Islamists. Rooted in Hope: China - Religion - Christianity Vol 2 Barbara Hoster, Dirk Kuhlmann, Zbigniew Wesolowski, 2017-03-27. This Festschrift is dedicated to the former Director and Editor in chief of the Monumenta Serica Institute in Sankt Augustin, Germany, Roman Malek S.V.D., in recognition of his scholarly commitment to China. The two-volume work contains 40 articles by his academic colleagues, companions in faith, confreres, as well as by the staff of the Monumenta Serica Institute and the China Zentrum e.V./China Center. The contributions in English, German, and Chinese pay homage to the jubilarian's diverse research interests covering the fields of Chinese Intellectual History, History of Christianity in China, Christianity in China Today, Other Religions in China, Chinese Language and Literature, as well as the Encounter of Cultures. Religion in Contemporary China Adam Yuet Chau, 2010-12-21. This book provides a wide-ranging and in-depth survey of contemporary religious practices in China. It explains how recent economic reforms and concurrent relaxation of religious policies have created fertile ground for the revitalization of a wide range of religious practices and relates this to larger issues of social and cultural continuity and change. Handbook of Migration, Ethnicity and Diversity Takeyuki Tsuda, 2024-07-05. This Handbook provides a framework for analysing migrant diversity utilising case studies that illustrate the social dynamics and consequences of such diversity for both migrants and host societies. By engaging with a wide range of literature and theoretical perspectives related to race and ethnicity, diasporas, gender, superdiversity, and intersectionality, it examines how such diversities can result in social processes of inclusion, exclusion, and hierarchical inequalities. Ethnographies of Islam in China Rachel Harris, Guangtian Ha, Maria Jaschok, 2021-01-31. In the late 1970s, Islam regained its force by generating novel forms of piety and forging new paths in politics throughout the world, including China. The Islamic revival in China, which came to fruition in the 2000s and the 2010s, prompted increases in government suppression but also intriguing resonances with the broader Muslim world. From influential theoretical and political contestations over Muslim women's status, the popularization of mass media, and the appearance of new patterns of consumption to increases in transnational Muslim migration, although China does not belong to the Islamic world as it is conventionally understood, China's Muslims have strengthened and expanded their global connections and impact. Such significant shifts in Chinese Muslim life have received scant scholarly attention until now. With contributions from a wide variety of scholars, all sharing a commitment to the value of the ethnographic approach, this volume provides the first comprehensive account of China's Islamic revival since the 1980s, as the country struggled to recover from the wreckage of the Cultural Revolution. The authors show the multifarious nature of China's Islam revival, which defies any reductive portrayal that paints it as a unified development motivated by a common ideology, and demonstrate how it was embedded in China's broader economic transition. Most importantly, they trace the historical genealogies and sociopolitical conditions that undergird the crackdown on Muslim life across China, confronting head-on the difficulties of working with Muslims Uyghur Muslims in particular at a time of intense religious oppression intellectual censorship and intrusive surveillance technology With chapters on both Hui and Uyghur Muslims this book also traverses boundaries that often separate studies of these two groups and illustrates with great clarity the value of disciplinary and methodological border crossing As such Ethnographies of Islam in China is essential reading for those interested in Islam's complexity in contemporary China and its broader relevance to the Muslim world and the changing nature of Chinese society seen through the prism of religion

Communist Multiculturalism Susan McCarthy, 2011-12-01 The communist Chinese state promotes the distinctiveness of the many minorities within its borders At the same time it is vigilant in suppressing groups that threaten the nation's unity or its modernizing goals In Communist Multiculturalism Susan K McCarthy examines three minority groups in the province of Yunnan focusing on the ways in which they have adapted to the government's nationbuilding and minority nationalities policies since the 1980s She reveals that Chinese government policy is shaped by perceptions of what constitutes an authentic cultural group and of the threat ethnic minorities may constitute to national interests These minority groups fit no clear categories but rather are practicing both their Chinese citizenship and the revival of their distinct cultural identities For these groups being minority is or can be one way of being national Minorities in the Chinese state face a paradox modern cosmopolitan sophisticated people good Chinese citizens in other words do not engage in unmodern behaviors Minorities however are expected to engage in them
