Trees in Paradise Jared Farmer,2013-10-21 From roots to canopy a lush verdant history of the making of California California now has more trees than at any time since the late Pleistocene This green landscape however is not the work of nature It s the work of history In the years after the Gold Rush American settlers remade the California landscape harnessing nature to their vision of the good life Horticulturists boosters and civic reformers began to improve the bare brown countryside planting millions of trees to create groves wooded suburbs and landscaped cities They imported the blue green eucalypts whose tangy fragrance was thought to cure malaria They built the lucrative Orange Empire on the sweet juice and thick skin of the Washington navel an industrial fruit They lined their streets with graceful palms to announce that they were not in the Midwest anymore To the north the majestic coastal redwoods inspired awe and invited exploitation A resource in the state the durable heartwood of these timeless giants became infrastructure transformed by the saw teeth of American enterprise By 1900 timber firms owned the entire redwood forest by 1950 they had clear cut almost all of the old growth trees In time California s new landscape proved to be no paradise the eucalypts in the Berkeley hills exploded in fire the orange groves near Riverside froze on cold nights Los Angeles s palms harbored rats and dropped heavy fronds on the streets below Disease infestation and development all spelled decline for these nonnative evergreens In the north however a new forest of second growth redwood took root nurtured by protective laws and sustainable harvesting Today there are more California redwoods than there were a century ago Rich in character and story Trees in Paradise is a dazzling narrative that offers an insightful new perspective on the history of the Golden State and the American West Letters to an
