Bronze Landscape Russian Steppes Archaeologica:

A Bronze Age Landscape in the Russian Steppes David W. Anthony, Dorcas R. Brown, Aleksandr A. Khokhlov, Pavel F. Kuznetsov, Oleg D. Mochalov, 2016-12-31 The first English language monograph that describes seasonal and permanent Late Bronze Age settlements in the Russian steppes this is the final report of the Samara Valley Project a US Russian archaeological investigation conducted between 1995 and 2002 It explores the changing organization and subsistence resources of pastoral steppe economies from the Eneolithic 4500 BC through the Late Bronze Age 1900 1200 BC across a steppe and river valley landscape in the middle Volga region with particular attention to the role of agriculture during the unusual episode of sedentary settled pastoralism that spread across the Eurasian steppes with the Srubnaya and Andronovo cultures 1900 1200 BC Three astonishing discoveries were made by the SVP archaeologists agriculture played no role in the LBA diet across the region a surprise given the settled residential pattern a unique winter ritual was practiced at Krasnosamarskoe involving dog and wolf sacrifices possibly related to male initiation ceremonies and overlapping spheres of obligation cooperation and affiliation operated at different scales to integrate groups defined by politics economics and ritual behaviors European Archaeology as Anthropology Pam J. Crabtree, Peter Bogucki, 2017-03-21 Since the days of V Gordon Childe the study of the emergence of complex societies has been a central question in anthropological archaeology However archaeologists working in the Americanist tradition have drawn most of their models for the emergence of social complexity from research in the Middle East and Latin America Bernard Wailes was a strong advocate for the importance of later prehistoric and early medieval Europe as an alternative model of sociopolitical evolution and trained generations of American archaeologists now active in European research from the Neolithic to the Middle Ages Two centuries of excavation and research in Europe have produced one of the richest bodies of archaeological data anywhere in the world The abundant data show that technological innovations such as metallurgy appeared very early but urbanism and state formation are comparatively late developments Key transformative process such as the spread of agriculture did not happen uniformly but rather at different rates in different regions The essays in this volume celebrate the legacy of Bernard Wailes by highlighting the contribution of the European archaeological record to our understanding of the emergence of social complexity They provide case studies in how ancient Europe can inform anthropological archaeology Not only do they illuminate key research topics they also invite archaeologists working in other parts of the world to consider comparisons to ancient Europe as they construct models for cultural development for their regions Although there is a substantial corpus of literature on European prehistoric and medieval archaeology we do not know of a comparable volume that explicitly focuses on the contribution that the study of ancient Europe can make to anthropological archaeology The Wari Enclave of Espiritu Pampa Brian S Bauer, Javier Fonseca Santa Cruz, 2020-12-31 The Wari State was the first expansionistic power to develop in the Andean highlands Emerging in the area of modern Ayacucho Peru around AD 650 the Wari expanded to control much of the central

Andes by the time of their collapse at AD 1000 This book describes the discovery and excavation 2010 2012 of a major new Wari site Espiritu Pampa located in the subtropical region of Vilcabamba Department of Cuzco While it was long believed that the Wari established trade networks between their highland capital and the Amazonian lowlands the identification of a large Wari site in the Vilcabamba region came as a surprise to most Wari specialists This book covers the first three years of excavations at the Wari site of Espiritu Pampa It describes the identification of a central plaza surrounded by a series of D shaped structures that are believed to be the loci of special activities for the Wari It also describes the contents of more than 30 burials many of which contained finely crafted silver gold bronze and ceramic objects

Tracing the Indo-Europeans

Birgit Anette Olsen, Thomas Olander, Kristian Kristiansen, 2019-08-23 Recent developments in aDNA have reshaped our understanding of later European prehistory and at the same time also opened up for more fruitful collaborations between archaeologists and historical linguists Two revolutionary genetic studies published independently in Nature 2015 showed that prehistoric Europe underwent two successive waves of migration one from Anatolia consistent with the introduction of agriculture and a later influx from the Pontic Caspian steppes which without any reasonable doubt pinpoints the archaeological Yamnaya complex as the cradle of Core Indo European languages Now for the first time when the preliminaries are clear it is possible for the fields of genetics archaeology and historical linguistics to cooperate in a constructive fashion to refine our knowledge of the Indo European homeland migrations society and language For the historical comparative linguists this opens up a wealth of exciting perspectives and new working fields in the intersections between linguistics and neighbouring disciplines for the archaeologists and geneticists on the other hand the linguistic contributions help to endow the material findings with a voice from the past The present selection of papers illustrates the importance of an open interdisciplinary discussion which will gradually help us in our quest of Tracing the Indo Europeans

Ancient Economies in Comparative Perspective Marcella Frangipane, Monika Poettinger, Bertram Schefold, 2022-09-09

This book investigates the economic organization of ancient societies from a comparative perspective By pursuing an interdisciplinary approach including contributions by archaeologists historians of antiquity economic historians as well as historians of economic thought it studies various aspects of ancient economies such as the material living conditions including production technologies etc economic institutions such as markets and coinage as well as the economic thinking of the time In the process it also explores the comparability of economic thought economic institutions and economic systems in ancient history Focusing on the Ancient Near East as well as the Mediterranean including Greece and Rome this comparative perspective makes it possible to identify historical permanencies but also diverse forms of social and political organization and cultural systems These institutions are then evaluated in terms of their capacity to solve economic problems such as the efficient use of resources or political stability The first part of the book introduces readers to the methodological context of the comparative approach including an evaluation of the related historiographical tradition Subsequent parts discuss a range of development models elements of economic thinking in ancient societies the role of trade and globalization and the use of monetary and financial instruments as well as political aspects Social Change in Aegean Prehistory Corien Wiersma, Sofia Voutsaki, 2016-11-30 This volume brings together papers that discuss social change The main focus is on the Early Helladic III to Late Helladic I period in southern Greece but also touches upon the surrounding islands This specific timeframe enables us to consider how mainland societies recovered from a crisis and how they eventually developed into the differentiated culturally receptive and competitive social formations of the early Mycenaean period Material changes are highlighted in the various papers ranging from pottery and burials to domestic architecture and settlement structures followed by discussions of how these changes relate to social change A variety of factors is thereby considered including demographic changes reciprocal relations and sumptuary behavior household organization and kin structure age and gender divisions internal tensions connectivity and mobility As such this volume is of interest to both Aegean prehistorians as to scholars interested in social and material change The volume consists of eight papers preceded by an introduction and concluded by a response The introduction gives an overview of the development of the debate on the explanation of social change in Aegean prehistory The response places the volume in a broader context of the EH III LH I period and the broader discussion on social change Geoarchaeology and Archaeological Mineralogy Natalia Ankusheva, Igor V.

Chechushkov, Andrey V. Epimakhov, Maksim Ankushev, Polina Ankusheva, Kristina Šarić, 2025-03-20 The volume of Springer Proceedings in Geoarchaeology and Archaeological Mineralogy contains selected papers presented at the 10th Geoarchaeology Conference which took place during September 18-21 2023 at the South Urals Federal Research Center the Ural Branch of the Russian Academy of Sciences Miass Russia The Proceedings unite studies in the fields of archaeometry geoarchaeology and ancient technologies based on cases from northern Eurasia and include archaeometallurgy stone tools investigation exploitation of geological resources in the past bioarchaeology residue analysis pottery and lithics investigation use of the GIS in archaeology A study of non organic materials rocks minerals ores metals metallurgical slags is a special focus of the book Many papers also use modern analytical methods of isotopic chemical and mineralogical analysis to study the composition and structure of ancient materials and the technological practices of past human populations of Modern Russia Caucasus and Serbia The volume is intended for archaeologists historians museum staff and geologists as well as students researchers from other disciplines and the general public interested in the interdisciplinary research in the field of archaeology and archaeological materials strategies and techniques of past quarrying mining metallurgy and lithic technologies at different chronological periods in Northern Eurasia Paso de la Amada Richard G Lesure, 2021-08-29 Paso de la Amada an archaeological site in the Soconusco region of the Pacific coast of Mexico was among the earliest sedentary ceramic using villages of Mesoamerica With an occupation that extended across 140 ha in 1600 BC it was also one of the largest communities of its era First settled around 1900 BC the site was abandoned 600 years later during what appears to have been a period of local political turmoil The decline of Paso de la Amada corresponded with a rupture in local traditions of material culture and local adoption of the Early Olmec style Stylistically the material culture of Paso de la Amada corresponds predominantly to the pre Olmec Mokaya tradition Excavations at the site have revealed significant earthen constructions from as early as 1700 BC Those include the earliest known Mesoamerican ball court and traces of a series of high status residences This monograph reports on large scale excavations in Mounds 1 12 and 32 as well as soundings in other locations The volume covers all aspects of excavations and artifacts and includes three lengthy interpretive chapters dealing with the main research questions which concern subsistence social inequality and the organizational history of the site

Early Athens Eirini M. Dimitriadou, 2019-03-31 This volume is one of the most important works on ancient Athens in the last fifty years The focus is on the early city from the end of the Bronze Age ca 1200 BCE to the Archaic period when Athens became the largest city of the Classical period only to be destroyed by the Persians in 480 479 BCE From a systematic study of all the excavation reports and surveys in central Athens the author has synthesized a detailed diachronic overview of the city from the Submycenaean period through the Archaic It is a treasure trove of information for archaeologists who work in this period Of great value as well are the detailed maps included which present features of ancient settlements and cemeteries the repositories of the human physical record Over eighty additional large scale interactive maps are available online to complement the book

Homo Migrants Megan J. Daniels, 2022-04-01 One of the most significant challenges in archaeology is understanding how and why humans migrate Homo Migrants examines the past present and future states of migration and mobility studies in archaeological discourse Contributors draw on revolutionary twenty first century advances in genetics isotope studies and data manipulation that have resolved longstanding debates about past human movement and have helped clarify the relationships between archaeological remains and human behavior and identity These emerging techniques have also pressed archaeologists and historians to develop models that responsibly incorporate method theory and data in ways that honor the complexity of human behavior and relationships This volume articulates the challenges that lie ahead as scholars draw from genomic studies computational science social theory cognitive and evolutionary studies environmental history and network analysis to clarify the nature of human migration in world history With case studies focusing on European and Mediterranean history and prehistory as well as global history Homo Migrants presents integrated methodologies and analyses that will interest any scholar researching migration and mobility in the human past
