Molecular Genetics of Inherited Eye Disorders Alan F. Wright, 1994-12-01 Molecular Genetics of Inherited Eye Disorders provides an authoritative and up to date account of molecular genetic advances in a wide spectrum of genetic eye disorders and forms the second volume in the Modern Genetics book series The field has produced some dramatic and often unexpected findings in recent years ranging from the elegant unravelling of the molecular basis of colour vision defects to the subtle complexity of the retinoblastoma gene The role of crystallins in congenital cataract and of the rhodopsin molecule in retinitis pigmentosa are discussed illustrating the importance of the candidate gene approach to genetic eye disease Reverse genetic approaches to the cloning of genes responsible for aniridia and choroideremia exemplify the power of the new genetic techniques and signal the start of the next experimental phase in which the functional characterization of identified genes begins

Degenerative Retinopathies Peter Humphries, Shomi Bhattacharya, Alan C. Bird, 1991-05-06 This book represents the proceedings of the Sixth World Congress of the International Retinitis Pigmentosa Association IRPA Dublin Ireland July 20 22 1990 It is intended for all research workers and ophthalmologists interested in the etiologies and diagnosis of inherited degenerative retinopathies The book contains 22 original papers many of which are genetically oriented The genetic focus is due to the fact that highly significant progress in genetic research has been made over the last few years Topics addressed in the book include proteins of the visual transduction cycle and their effect in the etiologies of RP identification of more mutations and new technologies for genetic analysis The new technologies in particular will interest specialists in molecular genetics and researchers seeking information about more clinical applications and the implications of research of inherited retinopathies

Retinal Degenerative Diseases XX Catherine Bowes Rickman, Christian Grimm, Robert E. Anderson, John D. Ash, Eric Pierce, Joe G. Hollyfield, 2025-02-10 This book contains the proceedings of the XVIII International Symposium on Retinal Degeneration RD2018 A majority of those who spoke and presented posters at the meeting contributed to this volume Most blinding CG1 diseases of inherited retinal degenerations have no treatments and age related macular degeneration has no cures despite the fact that it is an epidemic among the elderly with 1 in 3 4 affected by the age of 70 The RD Symposium focused on the exciting new developments aimed at understanding these diseases and providing therapies for them Since most major scientists in the field of retinal degenerations attend the biennial RD Symposia they are known by most as the best and most important meetings in the field The volume presents representative state of the art research in almost all areas of retinal degenerations ranging from cytopathologic physiologic diagnostic and clinical aspects animal models mechanisms of cell death candidate genes cloning mapping and other aspects of molecular genetics and developing potential therapeutic measures such as gene therapy and neuroprotective agents for potential pharmaceutical therapy Significant advances in these areas of retinal degenerations have been made since the last RD Symposium RD2021 These include the role of inflammation and immunity as well as other basic mechanisms in age related macular degeneration several new aspects of gene therapy and revolutionary new imaging and functional testing that will have a huge impact on the diagnosis and following the course of retinal degenerations as well as to provide new quantitative endpoints for clinical trials The retina is an approachable part of the central nervous system CNS and there is a major interest in neuroprotective and gene therapy for CNS diseases and neurodegenerations in general It should be noted that with successful and exciting initial clinical trials in neuroprotective and gene therapy including the restoration of sight in blind children the retinal degeneration therapies are leading the way towards new therapeutic measures for neurodegenerations of the CNS Many of the successes recently reported in these areas of retinal degeneration sprang from collaborations established at previous RD Symposia and many of those were reported at the RD2023 meeting and included in the current volume We anticipate the excitement of those working in the field and those afflicted with retinal degenerations is reflected in the volume
