Reshaping China Xingtao Huang, 2024-09-09 This book is the first and only English language edition of Huang Xingtao's Reshaping China translated by Lane J Harris and Mei Chun. In this landmark text, Huang Xingtao uses a cultural approach to the history of ideas. He traces the complex contours in the discursive debates around the concept of the Chinese nation, Zhonghua minzu, from its origins in the late Qing through the pivotal moment of the 1911 Revolution into the contentious revolutionary upheavals of the 1920s amidst the national crisis brought on by Japanese invasions in the 1930s and culminating in the widespread acceptance of the concept during the Civil War. By the late 1940s, the Chinese nation came to represent the idea that all peoples within the country, whatever their ethnicity, were equal citizens who shared common goals and aspirations. Copyright Office, 1949 China in 2020 Angang Hu, 2011-05-01 The rapid pace and grand scale of China's rise have produced a heady mixture of wonder and consternation in the West. Is China on track to become a superpower? What would that mean for the rest of the world? Economist Hu Angang approaches these questions through analysis of three major dimensions of China's rise: its overall economic and social development, advances in education, science and technology, including alternative energy and the likely complications posed by resource scarcity, environmental degradation and climate change. After three decades of unprecedented economic growth, China is now home to the world's second largest economy. It is the world's largest exporter and its second largest consumer of energy, as well as number one in carbon emissions. Extrapolating from these seismic changes, Hu forecasts that by 2020 China will become a mature, responsible and attractive superpower that will contribute alongside the European Union to the end of the unipolar era dominated by the United States. China in 2020 presents a native Chinese perspective on the challenges and opportunities that Beijing will face as its global footprint expands. Through a meticulous examination of China's development trajectory, Hu Angang explains how his nation, as the world's largest emerging market, will impact global economic growth, foreign direct investment flows, energy consumption and carbon dioxide emissions. He proposes a comprehensive strategic framework to guide the next stage of China's rise, seeking to maximize the country's positive impact on the world and minimize the negative externalities of its meteoric development. Millard's Review of the Far East, 1924 Vol 34 includes Special tariff conference issue Nov 6 1925
