Inside Abstraction Carolyn Dean, 2025-09-23 Illuminating the abstract art of the Inka what it conveys about Inka values and its relationship to those who view it Inka visual culture is unusual in its tendency toward abstraction Public stonework vessels used at state feasts garments worn by the imperial elite these objects announcing status and power are adorned with geometric designs that refuse figuration After searching in vain for hidden referents many scholars have largely given up the search for meaning Inside Abstraction develops a novel interpretation Eminent art historian Carolyn Dean proposes that Inka geometries are neither ornamental nor coded depictions of other objects Rather Dean shows that in the Andean world the designs were functionally self aware possessing perspectives of their own quite literally looking back at and addressing viewers directly Further Dean contends that these agent abstractions were teachers conveying particular messages concerning social hierarchy the relations among geometries and colors instructed viewers as to their own proper social relations Inka designs thereby served imperial aims by wordlessly communicating the state's values and demands for submission Extensively illustrated and rigorously argued Inside Abstraction is a dramatic step forward in our understanding of Inka art and political order

Culture as Capital Slavko Kacunko, 2015-03-02 By following and reproducing the cultural turn the rhetoric of cultural mix and hybridism is disseminated today primarily in its crossing of trade barriers Cultures reduced to their exchange value function as capital an accumulative speculative and ultimately financial affair In some of its media and site un specific manifestations process art which aims to encompass both old and new media art seems to resist this pressure despite nonetheless not being protected from regulations and incorporations In the present collection of his recent essays Slavko Kacunko discusses the process art by crossing the disciplines of art history and comparative media visual and cultural studies As a first approximation several historiographical remarks on closed circuit video installations underline their importance as a core category of process art In the second part the problems of process art seen as a threshold of art history are further examined in another retroanalytical step in which concepts and objects related to mirror frame and immediacy are analyzed as the triple delimitation of visual culture studies In the third part previously outlined manifestations of what is termed the post visual condition are summarized and projected to the coreless core of the emerging art and research related to the coreless beings par excellence the bacteria
