Environmental Justice
 Environmental justice is the fair treatment and meaningful involvement of all people regardless of race, color, national origin, or income with respect to environmental risks, benefits, and burdens. Environmental justice is a principle that has been adopted by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and is a key component of the agency's mission. The EPA's Environmental Justice Policy Statement, issued in 1992, states that "the federal government has a responsibility to ensure that all people have access to the same environmental benefits and are protected from the same environmental risks." This principle is reflected in the EPA's efforts to identify and address environmental justice issues, such as the disproportionate burden of environmental risks on minority and low-income communities.
