Non-humans in Social Science Karolína Pauknerová, Marco Stella, Petr Gibas, 2014-12-01 The book explores the issue of non humans and their role and position within contemporary social sciences Inspired by current trends of bridging the dichotomy of nature and culture the authors use the non human as a prism that offers a different perspective of the world society culture and last but not least being's To start paying attention to non humans has the potential to hybridize social sciences and in turn enrich them as well as to offer social scientists novel perspectives and tools to approach social phenomena Such an attitude might in turn lead to a reassessment of understanding of the relationship between the world and being and of the categories of being and subject Hence the potential of non humans to stimulate an ontological shift within social sciences The view of the human and non human as oppositional categories is a remnant of essentially modernist thinking This book represents a response in terms of an attempt to think about humans and non humans outside of the binary division The authors thus want to contribute to the hybridization of social sciences and throughout the book they deal with ontological epistemological and thematical shifts stemming from the hybridization If the non human does not exist as a negation the boundary between the two becomes unclear and overlapping It is with this hybridization the blurring of the boundaries that we are able to come closer to those who inhabit the world non humans and humans alike
