An Introduction To Ordinary Differential Equations Dover Books On Mathematics:

Ordinary Differential Equations Morris Tenenbaum, Harry Pollard, 1963 Skillfully organized introductory text examines origin of differential equations then defines basic terms and outlines the general solution of a differential equation Subsequent sections deal with integrating factors dilution and accretion problems linearization of first order systems Laplace Transforms Newton's Interpolation Formulas more

An Introduction to Ordinary Differential Equations Earl A. Coddington, 2012-04-20 A thorough systematic first course in elementary differential equations for undergraduates in mathematics and science requiring only basic calculus for a background Includes many exercises and problems with answers Index

Ordinary Differential Equations and Stability Theory: David A. Sanchez, 2019-09-18 This brief modern introduction to the subject of ordinary differential equations emphasizes stability theory Concisely and lucidly expressed it is intended as a supplementary text for advanced undergraduates or beginning graduate students who have completed a first course in ordinary differential equations The author begins by developing the notions of a fundamental system of solutions the Wronskian and the corresponding fundamental matrix Subsequent chapters explore the linear equation with constant coefficients stability theory for autonomous and nonautonomous systems and the problems of the existence and uniqueness of solutions and related topics Problems at the end of each chapter and two Appendixes on special topics enrich the text

Ordinary Differential Equations and Stability Theory David A. Sánchez, 1979

Introduction to Partial Differential Equations with Applications E. C. Zachmanoglou, Dale W. Thoe, 2012-04-20 This text explores the essentials of partial differential equations as applied to engineering and the physical sciences Discusses ordinary differential equations integral curves and surfaces of vector fields the Cauchy Kovalevsky theory more Problems and answers

The Qualitative Theory of Ordinary Differential Equations Fred Brauer, John A. Nohel, 1989-01-01 This is a very good book with many well chosen examples and illustrations American Mathematical Monthly This highly regarded text presents a self contained introduction to some important aspects of modern qualitative theory for ordinary differential equations It is accessible to any student of physical sciences mathematics or engineering who has a good knowledge of calculus and of the elements of linear algebra In addition algebraic results are stated as needed the less familiar ones are proved either in the text or in appendixes The topics covered in the first three chapters are the standard theorems concerning linear systems existence and uniqueness of solutions and dependence on parameters The next three chapters the heart of the book deal with stability theory and some applications such as oscillation phenomena self excited oscillations and the regulator problem of Lurie One of the special features of this work is its abundance of exercises routine computations completions of mathematical arguments extensions of theorems and applications to physical problems Moreover they are found in the body of the text where they naturally occur offering students substantial aid in understanding the ideas and concepts discussed The level is intended for students ranging from juniors to first year graduate students in mathematics physics or engineering however the book is also ideal for a one semester undergraduate course in ordinary differential equations or for engineers in need of a course in state space methods An Introduction to Ordinary Differential Equations James C. Robinson, 2004-01-08 This refreshing introductory textbook covers both standard techniques for solving ordinary differential equations as well as introducing students to qualitative methods such as phase plane analysis The presentation is concise informal yet rigorous it can be used either for 1 term or 1 semester courses Topics such as Euler's method difference equations the dynamics of the logistic map and the Lorenz equations demonstrate the vitality of the subject and provide pointers to further study The author also encourages a graphical approach to the equations and their solutions and to that end the book is profusely illustrated The files to produce the figures using MATLAB are all provided in an accompanying website Numerous worked examples provide motivation for and illustration of key ideas and show how to make the transition from theory to practice Exercises are also provided to test and extend understanding solutions for these are available for teachers Introduction to Ordinary Differential

Equations Shepley L. Ross, 1964 An Introduction to Differential Equations and Their Applications Stanley J. Farlow, 2012-10-23 This introductory text explores 1st and 2nd order differential equations series solutions the Laplace transform difference equations much more Numerous figures problems with solutions notes 1994 edition Includes 268 figures and 23 tables Introduction to Ordinary Differential Equations Albert L. Rabenstein, 2014-05-12 Introduction to Ordinary Differential Equations is a 12 chapter text that describes useful elementary methods of finding solutions using ordinary differential equations This book starts with an introduction to the properties and complex variable of linear differential equations Considerable chapters covered topics that are of particular interest in applications including Laplace transforms eigenvalue problems special functions Fourier series and boundary value problems of mathematical physics Other chapters are devoted to some topics that are not directly concerned with finding solutions and that should be of interest to the mathematics major such as the theorems about the existence and uniqueness of solutions The final chapters discuss the stability of critical points of plane autonomous systems and the results about the existence of periodic solutions of nonlinear equations This book is great use to mathematicians physicists and undergraduate students of engineering and the science who are interested in applications of differential equation
