internal and external environments examines the human dimension of organizations through a review of individual attributes human need and motivation social comparison theory and organizational learning theory presents the dimensions of structure and design theory and discusses why student affairs organizations need to think differently about how they organize their resources considers the context and process of organizational change and the dynamics of decision making power conflict and communication addresses the role of assessment and evaluation and new forms of leadership Each chapter opens with a case study and closes with a set of reflective questions The authors have all served as practitioners within student affairs and now teach and advise graduate students and future leaders in the field Identity-Conscious
