Critical Reflections on Public Private Partnerships Jasmine Gideon, Elaine Unterhalter, 2020-12-21 This book argues that despite the hype within many policy circles there is actually very little evidence to support the presumed benefits of Public Private Partnerships PPPs in reducing poverty and addressing inequalities in the provision of and access to public services Taking a cross sectoral comparative approach this book investigates how PPPs have played out in practice and what the implications have been for inequalities Drawing on a range of empirical case studies in education healthcare housing and water the book picks apart the roles of PPPs as financing mechanisms in several international and national contexts and considers the similarities and differences between sectors The global COVID 19 pandemic has raised significant questions about the future of social provision and through its analysis of the emergence and expansion of the role of PPPs the book also makes a vital contribution to current discussion over this rapidly changing landscape Overall this wide ranging guide to understanding and evaluating the role of PPPs in the Global South will be useful to researchers within development international relations economics and related fields as well as to policy makers and practitioners working in development related policy The Great Financial Meltdown Turan Subasat,2016-06-24 The Great Financial Meltdown reviews advocates and critiques the systemic conjunctural and policy based explanations for the 2008 crisis The book expertly examines these explanations to assess their analytical and empirical validity Comprehensive yet accessible chapters written by a collection of prominent authors cover a wide range of political economy approaches to the crisis from Marxian through to Post Keynesian and other heterodox schools Industrial Policy for the Twenty-first Century Dani Rodrik,Jean-Marie Lozachmeur,Pierre Pestieau,2004 Pathways from the Periphery Stephan Haggard,1990 Pathways from the Periphery is an innovative interpretation of the development of the newly industrializing countries NICs which now dominate Third World industry and manufacturing trade While such countries as Brazil and Mexico have achieved industrialization through strategies intended to foster self reliance the East Asian NICs South Korea Taiwan Hong Kong and Singapore have grown rapidly through an aggressive policy promoting the export of manufactured goods Stephan Haggard provides the first comprehensive comparison of the politics of industrialization in these East Asian and Latin American countries and offers new evidence on current issues in comparative political economy including the implications of different growth paths for dependency equity and democracy Recognizing the influence on development strategies of external shocks such as depression war and reduced access to foreign capital Haggard emphasizes the importance of domestic political institutions for economic decision making The East Asian NICs are characterized by close but regulated business government alliances weak labor movements and politically insulated and administratively capable states factors Haggard shows that have facilitated flexible and coherent industrial policies He argues that domestic policy choices can shape the external constraints states face The author considers in detail why Latin America s long standing efforts to achieve self reliance have ironically resulted in a dependence on international capital greater than that of the East Asian countries Addressing a long standing debate on the relationship between industrialization strategy and regime type Haggard carefully assesses the connection between growth and democratic politics Despite their authoritarian growth models the Asian NICs have he observes achieved greater equity than their Latin American counterparts Although the success of export led growth has in the past been associated with authoritarian rule Haggard argues that no compelling theoretical reasons preclude democratic governments from achieving strong economic performance Breaking new ground in theoretical inquiry and empirical research Pathways from the Periphery will be welcomed by political economists scholars and students of comparative politics historians of Asian and Latin American public policy and others concerned with the challenge of economic development Towards an

Institutional Setup for Industrial Policy in Late Industrialization in the 21st Century Jan Grumiller, Werner G.

Raza, 2019 Political and scholarly debates on the potentials and constraints of inclusive and sustainable development in the global periphery are at the core of the developmental discourse. This paper argues that discussions on the effectiveness, inclusiveness, and sustainability of economic development need to take the political economic contexts of specific peripheral countries into account. The paper highlights that the more recent literature related to the developmental state debate provides valuable insights to this end but needs i) further conceptual extension in particular with respect to the role of social inclusion and hegemony and ii) operationalization in order to be useful from a policy perspective. This paper aims to add to these two gaps in the literature. Industrial Policy Beyond the Crisis David Bailey, Helena Lenihan, Josep-Maria Arauzo-Carod, 2014-06-11 After years of official disrepute, industrial policy (IP) is back in vogue at regional, national, and international levels, driven by concerns over competitiveness, globalisation, de-industrialisation, unemployment, and the comparatively slow growth of the EU economy, especially in this post-recession phase. At the same time, IP has been seen as a catalyst for designing economic recovery strategies at regional, national, and international levels, as well as being a concerted strategy to develop new clean tech industries to tackle environmental challenges. If anything, the recent global recession and credit crunch have highlighted the fragility of some states and localities' economic development paths and the unbalanced nature of their economies in terms of an over-reliance on sectors such as retail, financial services, and construction to the detriment of manufacturing. This also suggests an accompanying need for greater economic diversity so as to avoid over-dependencies on certain sectors and a better balance of ownerships/forms. But what should be the shape of IP in the wake of the crisis, and how can IP rebalance economies, help support sustainable development, and catalyse new technologies and innovations whilst learning lessons from past experience and debate? This edited volume examines these questions through a wide range of diverse contributions from expert international authors. This book was originally published as a special issue of Policy Studies.
