Ewert, 2014-01-08 Outdoor Adventure Education Foundations Theories Models and Research steeps students in the theories concepts and developments of outdoor adventure education preparing them for careers in this burgeoning field This text is based on author Alan W Ewert s pioneering book Outdoor Adventure Pursuits Foundations Models and Theories Ewert and Sibthorp both experienced practitioners researchers and educators explore the outdoor adventure field today in relation to the changes that have occurred since Ewert s first book The authors present a comprehensive text on outdoor and adventure foundations theories and research that will provide the basis for the next generation of professionals      Becoming and Being a Camp Counsellor Mandi Baker, 2019-11-22 This book explores the complexities of the recreational summer camp experience and its reliance on the expertise and emotion work of young people Drawing on post structural theory Baker illustrates the discourses power relations and emotional demands that shape camp counsellor employment experiences and well being Through analysis of everyday experiences and interactions Baker unpicks the power nexus between counsellors campers peers and camp management offering a deeper understanding of camp counsellor employment and the challenges for camp employees and employers As such this book raises a call for camp researchers and industry leaders to engage in rethinking how camp counsellor roles are understood shaped and embodied and how they might be ethically supported through reflexive management practices Becoming and Being a Camp Counsellor will be of interest to scholars and students across the fields of leisure outdoor recreation youth studies and sociology      Adventurous Learning Simon Beames, Mike Brown, 2016-01-22 Adventurous Learning interrogates the word adventure and explores how elements of authenticity agency uncertainty and mastery can be incorporated into educational practices It outlines key elements for a pedagogy of adventurous learning and provides guidelines grounded in accessible theory Teachers of all kinds can adapt these guidelines for indoor and outdoor teaching in their own culturally specific place responsive contexts without any requirement to learn a new program or buy an educational gimmick As forces of standardization and regulation continue to pervade educational systems across the globe both teaching and learning have been starved of creativity choice and real world relevance Many teachers are keen to improve their practice yet feel constrained by the institutional structures within which they work By carefully examining adventure and its role in education teachers can become better able to design and deliver engaging programmes that are underpinned by sound pedagogical principles and which have deep and enduring meaning for their students      Introduction to Recreation and Leisure, 3E Tapps, Tyler, Wells, Mary Sara, 2019 Introduction to Recreation and Leisure Third Edition presents perspectives from 52 leading experts from around the world It delves into foundational concepts delivery systems and programming services offers an array of ancillaries and helps students make informed career choices      A Pedagogy of Place Brian Wattchow, Mike

Brown, 2011-02-01 A Pedagogy of Place offers an alternative vision for outdoor education practice. This timely book calls into question some of the underlying assumptions and truths about outdoor education, putting forward alternatives to current practice that are responsive to local conditions and cultural traditions. In this renewal of outdoor education philosophy and practice, the emphasis is upon responding to and empathising with the outdoors as particular places rich in local meaning and significance. Current outdoor education theory and practice is influenced by cultural ideas about risk and adventure and by psychological theories of personal and social development. However, in recent decades, the professional discourse of outdoor education has made a noticeable shift to include education for the environment and nature. This has resulted in a mismatch between theory and practice: traditional notions of proving oneself against the challenges of the outdoors are antithetical to the development of an empathetic relationship with outdoor places, which is growing concern with today's environment demands. This book is the first of its kind to articulate a renewal of philosophy and practice for outdoor education that is in keeping with the educational needs of today's young people as they grapple with considerable social and ecological changes in a rapidly changing world. The authors draw extensively on international, national and local literature and provide compelling case studies drawn from the Australian and New Zealand contexts.
