Biological Control of Rice Diseases Samuel S. Gnanamanickam, 2009-07-14 There is sufficient need to document all the available data on biological control of rice diseases in a small volume Part of this need rests on the global importance of rice to human life In the first chapter I have tried to show that rice is indeed life for most people in Asia and shortages in production and availability can lead to a food crisis While rice is cultivated in most continents biological disease management attains special relevance to rice farmers of Africa Asia and also perhaps Latin America These farmers are resource poor and might not be able to afford the cost of expensive chemical treatments to control devastating rice pathogens such as Magnaporthe oryzae blast Xanthomonas oryzae pv oryzae bacterial leaf blight Rhizoctonia solani sheath blight and the virus rice tungro disease In an earlier volume that I developed under the title Biological Control of Crop Diseases Dekker CRC Publishers 2002 I included transgenic crops generated for the management of plant pathogens as biological control under the umbrella of a broad definition Dr Jim Cook who wrote the Foreword for the volume lauded the inclusion of transgenic crops and induced systemic resistance ISR as a positive trend toward acceptance of host plant resistance as part of biocontrol I continue to subscribe to this view Biological Control of Plant Diseases E.C. Tjamos, G.C. Papavizas, R.J. Cook, 2013-06-29 The papers contained in this book were presented at a NATO Advanced Research Workshop ARW held at Cape Sounion Athens Greece 19-24 May 1991 The twenty eight more comprehensive papers represent the key subjects of the ARW covered by invited speakers The thirty four short papers presented in a research format are contributions of those invited to participate in the ARW There was a total of 70 participants from 21 countries The objectives of the ARW were as follows to review current knowledge of biological control of plant diseases and plant parasitic nematodes with emphasis on mechanisms at the molecular cellular organismal and ecosystem level to examine and expand on current concepts and synthesize new concepts to identify and prioritize limitations in the use of biological control for plant diseases and nematodes and the scientific research needed to overcome these limitations and to develop strategies for biological control through management of resident agents or introduction of natural or modified agents Biological Control of Crop Diseases Samuel S.
